New county budget almost $4 million

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A 1980-1981 fiscal year Hancock County budget approaching the $4 million mark was approved by the Board of Supervisors at a special meeting Monday morning.

The special meeting included a public budget hearing. No county residents attended the hearing and no written comments were received.

The supervisors had advertised that the county's proposed budget would be available for public inspection at the Chancery Clerk's office 10 days prior to the hearing.

However, the Chancery Clerk's office did not have the document available when citizen's requested the proposal last week.

Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise explained Monday afternoon that he brought the budget proposal with him to Jackson during that time and no copies were posted in his office.

The newly approved budget of $3,847,189 includes $2,700,887 for general county operations and $1,146,282 for road and bridge maintenance.

Last year's county budget was roughly $3.5 million.

Necaise said the 1979-80 general fund budget was approximately $2.2 million.

The county's share of the 1979-80 road and bridge budget was $1.3 million.

This year's $2.7 million general operations budget includes administrative costs at $850,828; courts at $189,771; public safety (which includes funds for the sheriff, constables, fire departments and Civil Defense) at $447,997; County Port and Harbor Commission at $180,000; sanitation at $50,806; County Health Department and Mobile Medic at $116,089; County Welfare Department at $127,781; education (which includes the library and the Pearl River Junior College Vo-Tech Center) at $124,500; parks at $43,000; County Agent and Soil and Water Conservation Service at $30,896; and capital improvements and construction at $539,239.

The $1.1 million road and bridge fund allots $173,691 to District One; $240,456 to District Two; $240,806 to District Three; $201,540 to District Four; and Hancock County faces either reducing essential public services or increasing taxes if the U.S. Congress does not pass a three-year extension authorizing general revenue sharing funds.

John Perkins, press assistant to Mississippi Senator Thad Cochran, said in Washington Wednesday morning, "Both the House of Representatives and the Senate have put authority in next year's budget for revenue sharing, but the actual three-year extension of the program has not passed either house."

"The House Government Operations Committee has reported out a bill which would extend revenue sharing for three years, but we are waiting for the House Rules Committee to clear the bill for floor action," Perkins reported.

"The Senate is awaiting House action which will occur anytime between now and October," the press assistant added.

President Jimmy Carter is opposed to revenue sharing and Perkins said there is still strong opposition to the federal program in the House of Representatives.

Based on 1979-80 income figures, Hancock County receives some $529,677 in revenue sharing funds annually which is approximately 13 percent of its projected $3.8 million 1980-81 budget.

Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise said Tuesday afternoon, "We'll either have to increase taxes or cut county services if we do not receive revenue

RE-OPENING JETTY—Louis Ellis, left, operating a Hancock County District Four bulldozer, and Jordan Bush, operating a Bay St. Louis backhoe, remove a barrier at the head of the Bay St. Louis American Legion Pier Wednesday. The jetty was closed in April 1979 after winds from a spring storm destroyed the wooden pier which has been completed just the summer before. The American Legion Post 139 recently received a permit from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to reconstruct the pier, according to Post Commander Henry Prevon. Prevon, Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, District Four Supervisor Sam Pernicelli, and Post Pier Chairman Frank Taconi were present at the re-opening Wednesday morning. The road to the jetty and launch are now open, Prevon explained, but the major section of the jetty will remain closed until a new pier is constructed. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Bay woman injured in crash

Waveland police are investigating the collision of a tractor and auto at the intersection of US-90 and Highway 603 Saturday night.

Waveland firemen used the 'Jaws of Life' to remove the driver from the badly damaged auto, according to Police Chief Donald Dorn.

Driver of the auto was Ms. Genevieve Young, 610 Bookter St., Bay St. Louis, and the tractor operator was Arthur E. Floyd, 5454 Overlook Road, Mobile, Ala., according to police.

Both victims were taken to Hancock General by Mobile Medic. Mrs. Young was transferred to Gulfport Memorial.

Dorn said Ms. Young has been charged with failure to yield and that Investigators Robert (Poochie) Tarravouille and Sandra Henley are investigating the case.

percent for the sanitary landfill.

Necaise also reported that the county will increase millage from two to four mills regardless if revenue sharing funds are allocated.

"Probably, the last time we increased millage was at least four years ago," the chancery clerk revealed.

"Total mills levied last year were 69.95. This year we will collect 71.95 mills," Necaise said.

"Everyone in Hancock County will pay an additional two mills in taxes which will pay for the first year of our re-appraisal program and people living in the County School District will pay another two mills," the chancery clerk reported.

Necaise explained the School District's two mills are for the $350,000 combined handicapped center and classroom facility under construction at Hancock North Central.

The chancery clerk said $1,528,300 will be collected with millage and roughly $350,000 is collected from the gasoline severance tax.

Hancock County also receives $1,172,587 from other income sources including $135,490 in local funds derived from mineral lease taxes, dealer's privilege licenses, sheriff's fees, justice court judge fines and interest on investments; $295,900 from the state which is homestead exemptions, gas-oil-timber severance, liquor tax and a volunteer fire department insurance rebate; and an unincumbered cash balance (funds left over from last year) amounting to $741,287.

Sheriff breaks Clermont Harbor burglary ring

By RICH ADAMS

Five Clermont Harbor youth were arrested this week and charged with burglarizing nine homes during an eight month period, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson said Tuesday.

Arrested in the case are: —Larry J. Peterson, 18, Box 5, on one count of receiving stolen property and one count of burglary. He is free on $5,000 bond;

—Francis Lombardo Jr., 18, 304 Pointsett St., charged with six counts of burglary and out of jail on $10,000 bond; —Stefan R. St. Clair, 20, 401 Second Street, charged with two counts of burglary and free on $5,000 bond;

And Michael S. Millican, 18, Box 151, charged with eight counts of burglary and free on $10,000 bond.

A 14-year-old juvenile was also apprehended in the case.

"We have arrested the suspects and they have confessed to the burglaries," Peterson said Tuesday.

Sheriff's Investigators Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner had been investigating the burglary ring for some seven months, Peterson added.

Among the items the investigators recovered are a stereo, fishing rods and reels, an outboard motor, alcohol, and $150 worth of spent fireworks.

"We think we have arrested all persons involved in the case, but believe more property can be recovered," Peterson said.

A preliminary hearing before District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein is set Aug. 27.

Officers chide narcs

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The early Monday activities by drug enforcement agencies in Hancock County has Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Bay Chief Douglas Williams and Waveland Chief Donald Dorn up in arms.

"Local officials were not at all happy with the narcotic agencies' sweeping into the area without letting them know anything,"

Peterson said Tuesday, "I am thinking of the safety of my officers. Deputy Mark Ohman saw someone looking suspicious parked on I-10 and upon checking him out saw guns inside the vehicle. The agent identified himself, but it could have been a problem of someone getting hurt."

"I called Eddie Dickie, supervisor for the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics Monday evening and told him my feelings. We have worked with them on previous occasions," Peterson commented.

Chief Williams reported, "I called J. Eubanks in Gulfport Monday and told him about my not knowing about the narcotic agent's activities in Bay St. Louis. Someone could have gotten killed, I am embarrassed about the events."

Waveland Chief Dorn allowed, "I think the sheriff and chiefs of police should be informed, as someone could get hurt. We have always worked closely with all law enforcement agencies."

Peterson and Williams said the officers they had spoken to agreed with their feelings.

Former Hancock Sheriff Sylvan J. Lander Jr., expressed dissatisfaction in 1978 with the Drug Enforcement Agency when an airplane loaded with marijuana confiscated at Stennis International Airport. Hancock County was not informed of the narcotic agency operation in the county.

Peterson added, "We realize that the narcotic officers have jurisdiction in the area, all we would like to have is a telephone call."

A motorist on the US-90 bridge early Monday morning stated he saw a lot of activity on the bridge as he crossed it and figured something big was going on.

Reports indicated 21 persons were arrested in the marijuana seizure in Mississippi and Louisiana.

The boat carrying the marijuana into the U.S. from South America berthed at the mouth of the Wolf River after going through the Bay St. Louis bridge.

RECOVERED GOODS—Hancock County Sheriff's Investigators Alvin Ladner, left, and Delbert Seay examine items recovered Saturday after the investigators arrested five youth allegedly involved in nine burglaries in Clermont Harbor. Four of the youth were charged with burglary and receiving stolen property, and a 14-year-old juvenile was turned over to Youth Court. Officials. The sheriff's department had been investigating the case for some seven months. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Curfew offenders beware:

Bay Police to nab young 'nightowls'

By RICH ADAMS

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams said Wednesday his department will begin a crackdown on curfew violations and will also use radar to spot-check for speeding drivers.

The chief said he also plans to implement a bicycle registration program in the near future and ticket cyclists not obeying stop signs and traffic signals.

"I am not trying to get down on kids or anything," Williams said in reference to the curfew and bicycle enforcements. "This is mainly for the child's safety."

The chief said a city ordinance establishes an 11 p.m. curfew for all youth 17-years-old and below.

"This curfew has been in effect for a long time, but we have been too busy with other things to enforce the curfew," Williams said Wednesday.

"This will be in effect mainly for the very young children, ages eight through 15. It is hard to bring a young man of 17 in front of a judge for curfew violations," the chief continued.

"This ordinance will be strictly enforced by the police. Any youth caught on the streets after 11 p.m. will be subject to arrest and Youth Court proceedings," he added.

Chief Williams also said his department is planning a bicycle registration program in which all bicycles will be required by a city ordinance to be stamped with a number each year at a cost of $1.

"We are planning the bicycle registration because there is so much theft and vandalism of bicycles in the city," Williams said.

"We will require all bicycles in the city to be registered, stamped, and obey traffic signals as required by law. It is required by the city code," he continued.

"An adhesive blue stamp with '1980' on it will be issued to each bicycle owner at a cost of $1. We will ticket any cyclist without a stamp once the program is implemented," Williams explained.

The chief added he may engrave the registration number on the frame of bicycles for identification if the bicycles should be stolen.

The law enforcement officer also said he is utilizing radar to capture speeders within the city limits.

"We have not been using radar too often, only when residents complained of cars speeding down specific areas," Williams said Wednesday.

"We are now going to spot check areas of the city for drivers exceeding the 25 miles-per-hour limit," he continued.

"The limit is 25 miles-per-hour unless otherwise posted," he added.

"Please observe the speed limit, because all violators will be stopped and ticketed," Williams warned.

Williams said 320 complaints were received by his department during July, including seven burglary complaints and 29 theft reports.

The department has solved five of the burglary reports and ten of the theft complaints, Williams reports.

His department responded to 19 traffic accidents last month, which resulted in six injuries and one death.

The police department arrested 25 people during July and escorted nine funerals, Williams added.

Youth offenders pay $1,565 in restitution

By RICH ADAMS

Restitution in the amount of $1,565 has been paid in July to citizens who were victimized by juveniles, according to Hancock County Youth Court Referee Michael D. Haas.

Restitution, part of a rehabilitation program instituted by the Hancock County Youth Court, requires a juvenile offender to repay a citizen or business owner for damages incurred during vandalism or theft, Haas explained.

The largest amount of the restitution, some $685, went to local schools, Haas reported.

Some $388 were paid to private citizens, $160 to businesses, $148 to doctors, and $64 to county offices, the referee said.

The Youth Court heard a total of 24 cases in July, including 13 cases of juvenile delinquency.

Eight cases of children in need of supervision were heard, one case of neglect and abuse, and one 'other' case, Haas reported.

Included in the delinquency charges were three cases of alleged larceny, and one case each of auto theft, breaking and entering, burglary, and violation of probation.

Of the 24 hearings, 13 of the children were referred to the court by city and county law enforcement agencies, five by parents or guardians, four by the Welfare Department, and two by Youth Court personnel, Haas reported.

At the end of the month, 47 juvenile offenders were on probation, 14 were on parole, two were in training school, and 187 were involved in other types of rehabilitation programs, the referee stated.

NINE FOOT TOMATO PLANTS—Noah Garcia of Lakeshore said regular waterings every other evening have enabled his eight tomato plants set in as six-inch seedlings on Good Friday to survive and prosper in spite of this year's droughts which have wreaked havoc in many a garden in this area. Garcia said the plants, growing at the home of his friend Menla Ruspoli on Seal Avenue in Pass Christian, produced the first ripe tomatoes in May and have yielded some 200 counting the fruit still on the plants which were tied to the side of the house after they outgrew seven-foot stakes.

Bay Council moves on resurfacing jobs

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A special meeting was called Monday by Bay Mayor Larry Bennett to discuss the resurfacing of the 500 blocks of Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has already accepted bids on the asphalt for the resurfacing, with Bay St. Louis responsible for preparation of the road bed.

Donn Murray, representative of Larry Seal, engineer for the county, wanted to know if the city could use their crews to make the preparation of the base.

Bennett reported that the Bay did not have the men or equipment with which to do the work and council members agreed.

Murray said the work by Necaise Construction Company was 'setting on ready'.

A special meeting is to be held at 5 p.m. this afternoon with Murray getting an estimate for Necaise to do the base work on Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets individually and all-together.

The streets were torn up for the 1978 Small Cities Program which made improvements on the water and sewer system in the area.

Approach RR Crossings With Extreme Caution

Always exercise the utmost caution when you approach a railroad crossing, warns Danie Reed, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service farm safety specialist.

"You owe it to yourself and your loved ones to stay alert and use good sense. Most grade-crossing accidents can be avoided," he adds.

In Mississippi, there have been 113 railroad crossing accidents in 1979. Of these, seven were fatal and fifty-six involved injuries.

"Stop, look and listen is still the best advice," according to Reed. "Use caution, and for your own sake, don't try to beat a train to a crossing. Think about it: The train can't stop, but you can."

Grade-crossing accidents usually happen to people who cross familiar tracks daily. According to Reed, that's part of the problem. Familiarity and confidence build as you cross tracks uneventfully day after day.

Reed offers these suggestions for saving lives and property. Stop at crossings and look for trains. Stop at unlighted crossings at night. You may not be able to see the unlighted side of a moving train in time. Get out of a vehicle which stalls on the tracks. Don't get "boxed in" or caught up in a flow of traffic across the tracks. Look for other trains after one has crossed. Beware of multiple tracks where trains may be going in different directions. Be doubly cautious in unfamiliar areas. Signs, train speeds and roads may differ from those you are accustomed to.

INVESTING IN LAND

One of the nice things about investing in land is that it rarely presents management problems. However, since it will produce no income, it should be bought only if you are financially able to carry the debt.

For the typical investment, you have to put down cash amounting to 25 percent to 50 percent of the total cost of the land, with regular payments on the remainder until the entire debt is paid. But if you prefer to pay taxes on a long-term capital gain, rather than ordinary income, then land can be an attractive investment.

The key to a good land investment is predicting land needs to the future. Here is where the experience of a good, local Realtor comes in. He has intimate knowledge of community needs, and can forecast, far better than the layman, what will be required for future land use and the best areas for growth potential.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

Gainesville, Pearlinton and Biloxi were principal towns in South Mississippi

A copy of the Gainesville Advocate dated June 17, 1845 was sent to me by H.V. Henley who lived in Eureka, California until his death.

Gainesville was the county seat of Hancock County in 1845 and a thriving town of something like 2,000 people.

An old clipping I have of somewhere near that time listed Gainesville, Biloxi and Pearlinton as the principal towns in south Mississippi.

It is interesting to read the ads and the news in this old paper. There were no display ads such as we find in newspapers today.

There was a short notice of "New Arrangements," the new and substantial steamer IRENE; W.M.S. Huston, Master, will continue to run as a tri-weekly Packet between Gainesville and New Orleans leaving Gainesville every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, returning Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

For freight or passage, apply to the Captain on board or to Sherwood, Harper & Co. in Gainesville.

The steamship Mad Anthony ran regularly between New Orleans and Gainesville.

Other ads advertised steamboat service as high upon the river as Georgetown. In this old paper were ads by drygoods stores and general stores. There were several ads by commission and forwarding merchants.

These merchants must have taken produce from the people living in the area and shipped it to New Orleans for sale on a commission basis.

There were other ads by receiving and forwarding merchants.

Fort and Wilcox advertised themselves as cotton factors, which I suppose meant handling cotton grown in the area.

A firm of lawyers had their professional card in the paper. There were numerous ads for patent medicines - one saying "PURIFY THE BLOOD WITH Moffatts Vegetable Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters" which were guaranteed to cure many ills, among them Dyspepsia, Liver ailments, the Ague, general debility, piles, rheumatism.

Those living in what are now Pearl River and Hancock Counties and even on up into Marion and Lawrence counties went to Gainesville to catch the boat to New Orleans.

A statement from the postmaster said, "The northern mail via Columbia, Riceville, and Hobolochitto, (now Picaune) arrives every Sunday evening by 5 o'clock and departs for New Orleans and Mobile via Pearlinton and Pass Christian the same evening. The New Orleans and Mobile mails arrive every Wednesday morning on the return North by 11 o'clock."

W.H. (Harvey) Burks told me that an uncle of his carried the mail from Gainesville to Columbia once a week for many years before the railway came through. It is interesting to note that for a long time mail for Columbia, Monticello and Georgetown was carried on horseback from Gainesville once a week.

In this old paper there were market reports quoting cotton at from 6 cents to 9 cents depending on the grade. Bacon was quoted at 6 cents to 7 cents, various other commodities also.

There were quotations from the New Orleans Money Market naming the exchange rates with England, dealings in sovereigns, Spanish doubloons and Mexican dollars. Discount rates of New Orleans banks were printed in this old paper.

The Gainesville Advocate had agents in Columbia, Monticello, Holmesville, Shieldsboro and Hobolochitto, now known as Picaune.

Three candidates for district attorney for the counties of Copiah, Lawrence, Pike, Marion, Hancock, Simpson, Covington, Harrison, Smith, Rankin and Scott had their announcements in this old paper (O.F. McCarty of Monticello, B. Bacon of Columbia and S.A. Matthews of Holmesville).

The editor placed this note just under the announcement, "It is with great reluctance we are necessitated to refer candidates to our terms which are to be found on the first column of first page of the Advocate (Said terms; CASH in advance)."

Surprisingly, there is very little local news in this old paper, most of the news being from faraway and evidently copied from other papers.

Here is one interesting news story copied from a New Orleans paper: "By the arrival this morning of the Steamer IRENE we received intelligence of the melancholy demise of General Andrew Jackson. We copy the following from the Crescent City yesterday: The steamboat Yorktown arrived at our Landing yesterday with her flags at half mast. This unusual sight gave proof that something unusual had occurred. On making inquiry the Captain reported the death of General Jackson on the evening of the 8th instant."

Apparently it took 7 days from his death for the news to reach Gainesville. Now, such news would be flashed over radio and television and people would know within minutes.

Quoting at random from the old paper: "A milk man in attempting to water his horse went out and watered his milk. He discovered his error when his customers reported there was no cream."

"In about three months we understand that Philadelphia and New York will be within a minute of each other, the arrangement being made for laying down or setting up a magnetic telegraph being likely to be completed within that time."

"Since the hot season has set in and in fact is somewhat advanced why would it not be an excellent plan for our townsmen to take immediate steps for cleaning out and putting in order our public well? We merely make the suggestion."

In the old paper there was an ad for the Gainesville Hotel. There were at least two other hotels and boarding houses in Gainesville at that time. The ad for the Gainesville Hotel was as follows:

"The proprietor having built an addition to his house, is now prepared to receive Boarders and accommodate Travelers, and all those who may be pleased to give him a call. His table will always be furnished with the best the market affords. His stables will be well supplied with provender and he flatters himself that by strict attention to the wants of his friends and the traveling community, to merit a liberal share of public patronage. The terms of the Hotel are as follows, to-wit: Board per month, $9.00. Board and lodging, per month, $12.00. Board and lodging, per day, $1.10. Single Meal, each, $0.25. Single feed for horse, $0.25.

Man and horse, per day, $1.50. Man and horse per night, $1.25. Keeping horse, per month, $12.00. Keeping horse, per day, $0.50. Boarding for a less period than one month will be charged by the day. All boarding to be paid in advance, if required by the proprietor.

In addition to the above, the proprietor has opened a COFFEE HOUSE at the corner of Centre and Water streets, where he will keep a general assortment of Spiritous and Vineous Liquors, at which establishment he hopes to share a liberal patronage. Gainesville, Aug. 1, 1845.

In this old paper an announcement was made of the opening of the Gainesville Exchange:

"The undersigned respectfully inform the citizens of Gainesville, Mississippi and its vicinity, also the public in general, that he has opened a Coffee House on the corner of Centre and Water streets, where he will keep a general supply of Vineous and Spiritous Liquors. He is also preparing to open a BILLIARD ROOM, attached to the same. He will, in the mean time, be prepared to open a House of Entertainment, in a few weeks, for the accommodation of all gentlemen and ladies who may favor him with their patronage. VA questions and answers

Q. What is the interest rate on a GI home loan?

A. Currently, the interest rate is 11.5 percent. Interest rates vary from time to time. However, once a loan is closed, the interest rate remains in effect until the loan is paid in full.

Q. How may a veteran determine what adaptive equipment has been approved by the Veterans Administration?

A. Information on VA approved adaptive equipment may be obtained by visiting or calling the nearest VA medical center or outpatient clinic, or by writing directly to the VA Prosthetic Center, 151 Seventh Ave., New York, N.Y.

Q. I served eight years of active military service before being honorably discharged. Do I still have reemployment rights at my former job?

A. No. To be entitled to these rights a veteran must not have served for more than four years after August 1, 1961. A one year additional voluntary extension of active duty is permitted if it is at the request of and for the convenience of the government.

Q. What are the benefits to the veteran of using a VA guaranteed loan to purchase a home?

A. The security a veteran offers a lender is strengthened by the fact that the credit of the U.S. government stands behind the loan. Because of the protection of the VA guaranty, the veteran often does not have to make a down payment, as is usually required. Also, the loan may be prepaid, partially or fully, at any time without premium or fee.

Q. I received an honorable discharge after completing a two-year enlistment in the military. I had no wartime service. Am I eligible to receive a headstone or grave marker?

A. A headstone or grave marker is available for any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service (other than active duty for training) who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

Bits 'n pieces

It is a shame for a street to have to be closed in order to keep folks from dumping trash.

Why would someone want to dump six boxes of fish in an area when the stench affects residents, is beyond our imagination.

The street we are talking about is one of the older ones in the area, Conrad's Lane, part is in Bay St. Louis and part in Waveland.

We have noticed several streets this summer with bags, boxes and loose fish and crabs. Smell from that type of garbage in this extra hot weather we have been having can travel several blocks.

All we really need is to have a few tickets issued and stiff fines handed out and maybe that would cool the foul practice of dumping seafood on the sides of our streets.

While on the subject of seafood, we have noticed some signs in our area claiming no PCP in the merchant's products.

This reminds us of the crab scare not too long ago.

It seems that seafood is one precious item really controlled by the environment and it could be we best take notice.

We all love seafood; (well the majority of us) and if we keep fiddling around one day we may wake up with none left.

Not too many years ago, when a person talked about the environment, most of us thought they were some kind of a 'kook.' We are glad indications now show, according to the experts, that the PCP spill will be completely purged in a short period. We just wonder what would have happened if the spill would have been a more serious chemical, something which would have been around for a long time.

We hope more caution is taken in the transportation of hazardous items.

We are still trying to find the cause of the mysterious blast which shook the Coast last Thursday.

It seems that with all the knowledge at NSTL and the military installations along the coast someone would know what caused homes to rock and windows to rattle.

That was sure a nice tarpon boated by Dave Harvill last Thursday morning.

Guess they will have to add on to the house to find a vacant wall to display the trophy with four already hanging around.

Dave likes to fish and hunt like his father and brothers. He does about as much fishing and hunting as anyone we know.

I was along with his dad when his brother Donald fought a 98 pounder to take first place in a Long Beach rodeo several years ago.

The tarpon Dave caught Thursday was only 132 pounds. He has a 151 pounder being considered a State record he caught last year.

I hope one day to tangle with one of the silver kings.

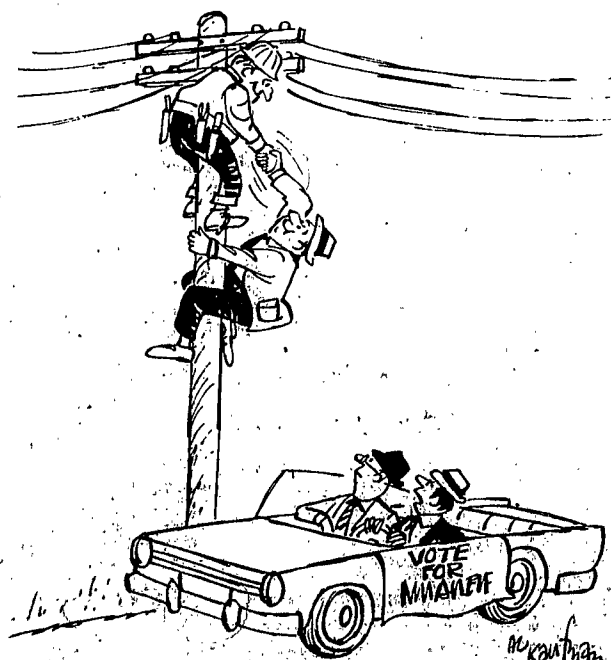

There was good news for fishermen and crabbers Wednesday morning with the re-opening of the American Legion ramp at Washington Street in Bay St. Louis.

It is our understanding the boat ramp is now open with parking space for vehicles and boat trailers.

The pier which was destroyed by a storm will be rebuilt, according to Henry Prevou, commander of American Legion Post No. 139.

Approval by the Corps of Engineers for a jetty protecting the boat ramp and the extension on the pier has been announced and work will begin as soon as written authority is received.

We know many folks have been waiting for the pier and ramp to open, as there are quite a few 'mullet chasers' ready to go. Good fishing to all!

"He needs every vote he can get."

ROAD CLOSED—District Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro stands on top of dirt blocking Conrad's Lane Wednesday. The street had to be closed because of the illegal dumping of seafood and garbage on the old but seldom used road. The road which is partly in Bay St. Louis and partly in Waveland had been closed once before for the same reasons. It seems to us people should have more respect for the property of others than to unload spoiling seafood by the boxes which effects residents of the area. We hope the people of our area will use the proper disposal of garbage and seafood.

News from the governor's office

Governor William Winter recently announced a proposed energy conservation program which could potentially save Mississippi homeowners millions of dollars with little consumer investment.

Called the "Low Cost-No Cost" program, the conservation initiative is designed to significantly increase the energy efficiency of residential buildings. The name of the program implies its keys factor—all measures undertaken will either cost nothing or will be low in cost.

Implementation of the simple energy-saving measures can save homeowners as much as 25 percent on monthly home heating and cooling bills. Most of the conservation measures in the program are simple enough to be implemented by homeowners themselves, as opposed to hiring contractors.

In a low cost-no cost pilot program in the New England states, a documented savings of $69 million dollars per year was achieved; the equivalent of 2.6 million barrels of oil.

Saving Mississippi's energy situation "mirrors, on a smaller scale, the problem faced by the entire country," Winter said. "It is incumbent upon elected officials, state and local personnel, civic organizations, and all of private industry to firmly support a coordinated effort that will begin to solve our energy problems."

Winter said the fact that implementation of the measures outlined in the program will be of little or no cost to consumers is especially important to the people of Mississippi.

"Our people have been especially hard hit by rising costs in home utility rates," Winter said. The governor said many of the state's citizens cannot afford to install more costly home conservation measures.

"The low-cost no cost program will be especially helpful to low income families and those on fixed incomes," Winter said, "but these simple measures will be helpful to any family."

Winter said the goal of the program is to "place a low cost-no cost package in the hands of every homeowner in the state, aided with a public awareness program designed to encourage citizens to implement the measures

Dear Mr. Editor,

My heart is so filled with gratitude that I am compelled to write this letter for Senior Citizens to all of the people of Hancock County.

We especially appreciate fire departments, supervisors and police for the good deeds they are doing. I can't forget our staff at the Senior Center - every morning Pam has hot biscuits, jelly, pork sausages and hot coffee waiting for us. Sometimes 40 and 50 people meet in the morning at the center.

We are all one big happy family, and I am so grateful to have somewhere to go every day where I can make all kinds of beautiful things.

God bless all those who have not forgotten the old Senior Citizens.

Sir:

I have been reading in your paper about the Hancock General Hospital's trials and rips.

I have listened to what the doctors had to say.

I have listened to what the board members had to say.

I have listened to what the supervisors had to say.

And I have listened to what Mr. Gilmore had to say.

High on to 20 years my family and myself have been enjoying the real family-like atmosphere in the Bay St. Louis hospital and may I add, one cannot compare it to the "Mt. Sinai" Hospital or M. D. Anderson Hospital or Mayo Clinic, but the employees of Hancock General have been getting the job done.

I have just finished a stay in H.G.H. with part of my body burnt in gasoline fire.

The treatment could not have been any better anywhere else. I'm still an out patient.

I have the means to go to any hospital I choose, but I have received the best care at H.G.H.

It is my hospital and your hospital, so please let's all settle the squabble, power struggle and bickering.

Let's keep the hospital above board and continue giving good service and treatment to its owners, the taxpayers of this area.

Sincerely yours,
Egan N. Carroll

Police concern for injured youth brings plaudits from parents

Chief of Police
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

I am writing this letter on behalf of my husband and my son, Kevin, in appreciation for the caring kindness and consideration shown to us by three of your officers on the night of Friday, July 25, 1980.

While we were away from the house (120 Booker St.) our son tripped and cut his arm as he tried to steady himself against a glass door.

The cut was bleeding rather badly and the children ran out into the street and stopped a passing police car.

Officers Robert Williams, Russell Watts and Matt Karl came to their aid just as we were returning from our walk on the beach.

They exhibited a great deal of concern, and advised us that the cut would probably need to be attended to at the hospital.

Officer Williams followed us there and came in to see how we were doing. Later, the two others also appeared and inquired about Kevin.

We hear so much about the callous attitude of the police that we wanted you to know how much we appreciated the genuine concern exhibited by these fine members of your police force.

Please commend them for us.

Sincerely,

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

Is it ethical for such people as dentists, doctors, and lawyers to advertise? I see a few ads now, but some of my friends in these professions are very critical of the advertisers. Do you think they should advertise? Yours sincerely, A Concerned Consumer.

Dear ACC: A number of vocational groups, following the lead of those you list, have through the years, adopted for themselves various codes of professionalism. Most of the codes are referred to as "ethics," but the term is probably misapplied in reference to advertising.

Ethics, of course, has essentially the same meaning as morals. Thus, the term is used correctly only when the restricted behavior is wrong or evil in the moral sense. And advertising is not inherently good or evil—the real test would be the right or wrongness of the advertisement in question.

Misleading, fraudulent, deceptive advertising is unethical, regardless of who does it. And the Federal Trade Commission and various consumer protection agencies have established good track records in policing these kinds of ads.

The US Supreme Court in a May 1976 Virginia case, ruled that states may not prohibit advertising of prescription drugs—that to do so violated the First Amendment. The court found a 600 per cent variation in drug prices, and concluded that poor people were the ones most harmed by advertising restrictions.

During this case, and in subsequent cases, the media has been relatively silent—an indication of professional restraint—lest they give the appearance of "trying to adjudicate business."

Though silent, they were and are, nevertheless puzzled by groups that allow their members to have yellow page listings while banning newspaper notices; and at the same time send out news releases trying to get free space for their associations.

To answer your second question, I think many of them do advertise. The media is constantly being "used" by many professional people to publicize themselves. Some of it is legitimate, but much is not. However, journalists do not generally concern themselves with the "professionalism" of the news source, but make judgments strictly on the news value of the releases.

As a closing thought there is much we all need to learn from professional people about taking care of ourselves and our business. If these groups developed well structured, advertising campaigns of an educational nature it could benefit consumers much more than the hit and miss method of seeking public service spots and free space.

The government made the tonic I use every day quit advertising. Should I quit taking it? Old Timer.

Dear O.T.: Check with your doctor or pharmacist to see if any of the ingredients might be harmful—either alone, or in combination with other medicines you are taking. Most tonics, however, contain only enough alcohol to make you feel better and enough bad taste to make you think it's good for you. Most of their ads were questioned; not because the tonics were harmful, but ineffective.

Supervisors join funding city-county pound

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors joined the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland in the endorsement of a city-county animal pound at a special meeting Monday morning.

In recent months the Bay-Waveland Humane Society has urged local officials to support a joint-operated animal facility.

Currently, both cities utilize the Bay St. Louis animal pound to house stray animals.

However, a planned Alcan Cable Co. plant expansion will necessitate the demolition of the present Bay St. Louis facility.

The supervisor's Monday resolution also pledged $5,000 toward construction of the new pound which will probably be located in Bay St. Louis.

Some 10 Humane Society members attended the meeting.

C. J. Dumestre Jr., vice president of the group, said both cities have also pledged $5,000 each for the animal pound.

He also presented preliminary plans for an approximate 40-foot by 80-foot facility.

"It has been suggested that the pound be located between the Bay St. Louis sewerage treatment pond and the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks," Dumestre reported.

County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson endorsed the proposed animal pound "wholeheartedly" and stated, "If a dog bites someone we need a place to lock these animals up."

"I feel most people involved in local law enforcement would endorse this project," Peterson added.

District Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro suggested, "I think we should talk with Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis to see if there are any objections to this proposed pound location."

Perniciaro said Alcan's expansion plans would close the present pound by the end of this month, but added, "I think Alcan would give us a time extension so we can build this new facility."

Board Attorney Walter Gex said to Dumestre, "I think you should be sure Mayor Bennett notifies local residents of the pound's proposed location and have a public hearing."

The Humane Society vice president replied, "There's no definite site yet. ...we just want a facility that won't effect its neighbors."

District One Supervisor Bert Courge asked, "What about maintenance and personnel for this new facility?"

Dumestre replied, "Each municipality allots funds for the pound's operation."

"It's been a policy of the Humane Society to pay for all veterinary care," he added.

The group vice president also reported that state law requires all law enforcement officers to apprehend stray animals. An animal wearing an inoculation tag has to be held for at least five days.

In other business, at the 9 a.m. meeting in the County Courthouse, the board:

—Approved the reappointment of Luther E. Grice to a five-year term as a commissioner to the Diamondhead Fire Protection District;

—Approved paying $75 for a pauper's funeral for a Hancock County woman;

—Approved notary bonds for Jay Triche and Mary C. Moran;

—Accepted the resignation of Mary Fricke, manager of the County Home of the Aged, with regret. The manager resigned due to health reasons;

—Authorized hiring Christine Garcia as new manager of the County Home;

—Received a letter from the State Tax Commission acknowledging receipt of a supervisor's letter concerning homestead exemptions.

questions and answers

Q. My father has no income of his own and lives with me. He was 65 2 months ago. I think he may be eligible for SSI payments. If he is, will he get payments back to when he reached 65?

A. No. Under the SSI law, no payments can be made for months before a person applies. If your father thinks he is eligible for SSI, he should apply as soon as possible at any social security office.

Q. My mother recently underwent surgery. The doctor says she no longer needs medical care, so he's discharging her from the hospital next week. I think she should stay because she still needs help in getting in and out of bed and with walking. Wouldn't Medicare pay for this kind of care?

A. Care which is primarily for the purpose of meeting personal needs and could be provided by persons without professional skills or training—such as help in walking and getting in and out of bed—is considered custodial care. Medicare does not cover custodial care, even if the patient is in a hospital or skilled nursing facility or is receiving care from a home health agency.

Q. I've heard that I'll have to have a redetermination of my SSI payments. What does that mean?

A. The SSI law requires that each beneficiary's case be periodically reviewed to make certain that the beneficiary is still eligible for SSI and that his or her payment amount is correct. This review is called a redetermination. In some instances, the redetermination can be conducted by mail or telephone. But, in other cases, the beneficiary has to visit the social security office for an interview. The local social security office will notify you when it is time for your redetermination.

Q. I recently applied for an auto loan from a finance company. The person who took my application asked for my social security number. I didn't want to give it to her, but she said the company uses social security numbers for filing purposes. Is this practice legal?

A. Some non-government organizations use social security numbers for recordkeeping purposes. Such use is neither required nor prohibited by Federal law. Knowing your number, however, does not allow these organizations to get information from your social security records.

PRC testing session set for new students

Pearl River Junior College has scheduled an orientation and testing session for all freshmen and incoming transfer students Friday, August 22 at 8:30 a.m. in the PRC Coliseum.

According to Enoch Seal Jr., academic dean, the orientation session will be used to set-up basic studies classes in English and reading. "All students will be tested before registration," Seal said, "this will enable us to determine if the student needs to register for these particular classes."

The basic study class in English and reading are designed to help the student reach room competency levels for college freshmen.

"The courses enables the student to catch up," said Seal, "it allows them to become full-fledged college freshmen."

The testing session should last until approximately 11 a.m. All scores will be ready by Monday morning at the time of registration in order that advisors can schedule the correct classes.

Seal said another test will be given the first day of class and a student is evaluated again.

If the student does well enough the instructor may recommend transferring the individual to the regular English and reading classes.

If the student still registers below the norm, he or she will be required to take the class for the entire semester.

"It's very important for students to attend the orientation session," said Seal, "because a freshman or transfer student will not be allowed to register until the tests are taken."

Late registration could mean closed classes and that, of course, could mean a difficult and undesirable schedule.

Pearl River faculty members are scheduled to report to the Pearl River library at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, August 22 and all resident dormitories will re-open at 3 p.m. that same afternoon.

Pearl River's buses will run according to the regular schedule Friday, August 22. The schedule follows.

Must Be Insured For SS Benefits

Before any benefits can be paid on a person's social security record, the worker must have enough credit for work covered by social security to be insured, a social security representative said recently.

The amount of credit needed varies with the person's age and the kind of benefits involved. Basically, a person needs credit for one year of work for every 4 years since 1950 or, if later, after the year he or she reached age 21.

Using this rule, a person reaching 62 in 1979 would need credit for 7 years of work covered by social security to be eligible for retirement benefits. A person having this much credit is said to be fully insured.

Eventually, 10 years of work under social security will be required for retirement benefits. This will be the case for people who reach 62 after 1990. No one will ever need credit for more than 10 years.

The situation is slightly different for survivors' benefits. For survivors' benefits to be paid on the record of a person born before 1930, the worker must have had credit for 7 years of work under social security, assuming he or she dies in 1979.

Less credit is required in the case of a worker who dies at a younger age. The requirement ranges down to as little as 1 1/2 years of work credit for workers who die at age 28 or younger.

Science foundation tells of USM grant

The National Science Foundation has announced a grant award of $10,958.00 to the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg. The grant provides partial funding for a "Women in Science Careers Workshop" to be held at USM on October 24th and 25th.

The purpose of the workshop will be to advise women how to prepare for careers in the sciences, and to provide information on job opportunities. About 150 women are expected to attend the workshop, including college juniors and seniors, graduate students, and women who hold an undergraduate degree, but who are unemployed or underemployed. There is no cost to the participants, and meals will be provided.

The workshop will be directed by Dr. Ruth Ann Cade, Associate Professor of Computer Science and Statistics at USM.

"We hope the workshop will help to promote a positive attitude toward careers in science," Dr. Cade said. "We are inviting several nationally known women scientists to be at the workshop and to meet with our participants. Also, participants will be informed about job openings in the Biological, Physical, and Social Sciences. We are proud to have been selected to conduct one of only 17 of the National Science Career Workshops."

Anyone interested in attending this free workshop should apply in advance; applicants will be accepted on a "first come, first served" basis. For complete information, applicants should contact the USM Department of Community Services and Women's Programming, Box 5056, USM, Hattiesburg, MS. 39401, phone: 601-266-7398.

In 1916, just six years before the discovery of King Tut's tomb, Lord Carnarvon took photographs at the excavation site, two of which are included in the exhibition. "Treasures Of The Royal Photographic Society: 1839-1916," now on display at the New Orleans Museum of Art.

On November 4, 1922, archaeologist Howard Carter and his workers began clearing a staircase discovered at an excavation site in the Valley of the Kings across the Nile from Luxor in Upper Egypt. The top of a doorway came into view, and on the plaster covering that sealed the door were affixed the seals of the royal necropolis - the jackal god Anubis hovering over his foes.

"It was a thrilling moment for an excavator in that valley of unutterable silence, quite alone save for his native staff and workmen," Carter wrote, "suddenly to find himself, after so many years of toilsome work, on the verge of what looked like a magnificent discovery."

Carter ordered the stairway filled again, posted guards at the site, and hurried to Luxor to cable the gentleman who financed the years of excavation, the Earl of Carnarvon.

Except for Egypt, the Earl and Carter had little in common. At the time of the discovery, Carnarvon was fifty-six years old. He had attended Eton and Cambridge, was widely traveled, owned land, and his ancestral seat, Highclere in Berkshire, was one of the stateliest homes of England.

Carnarvon was a collector, the owner of a large and successful racing stable, and an amateur photographer. It was an automobile accident in Germany that brought him to Egypt to avoid the long, damp winters in England, so painful because of his injuries.

Agriculture, tourism and archaeology were Luxor's only activities, and Carnarvon decided to "take up" excavation. He met Carter and began a relationship with the younger man.

Carter was 49 years old when he discovered the staircase. He was the son and grandson of animal painters, and studied art on his father's knee. He grew up in Norfolk, England and had little formal education.

He first went to Egypt as a draftsman with the Egypt Exploration Fund, and later became an inspector in the Egyptian government's Department of Antiquities. He was dismissed when some tourists, guests of their government, became unruly at one of the pyramids of Sakkara, and he ordered them away.

Complaining to their ambassador, Carter was ordered to apologize and he refused. In the summer of 1922, Carter visited Carnarvon in England, and begged the Earl to finance one more season at the excavation site. Carnarvon finally agreed, but warned that it would be the last season if nothing were found.

His cable on November 4 to Carnarvon stated "At last have made wonderful discovery in valley; a magnificent tomb with seals intact; recovered for your arrival; congratulations."

On November 26, Carnarvon, his daughter, and Carter's Assistant, A.R. Callender, stood beside Carter when he inserted a candle in a hole drilled in the left-hand corner of the door.

"For the moment - an eternity it must have seemed to the others standing by - I was struck dumb with amazement, and when Lord Carnarvon, unable to stand the suspense any longer, inquired anxiously, 'Can you see anything?' it was all I could do to get out the words, 'Yes, wonderful things...'"

Carter's discovery was to have a great and lasting impact on the world of art and archaeology - he unearthed the treasures of the boy king, Tutankhamun.

The "Treasures Of The Royal Photographic Society: 1839-1916" is a representative selection of the world's oldest photographic society in existence and, in addition to Lord Carnarvon's excavation photographs the exhibition includes, among others, portraiture by the best-known of 19th century portraitists, Julia Margaret Cameron; travel photography by Francis Frith and Samuel Bourne; photographs of architectural interest by Frederick Henry Evans; "High Art" photography by Henry Peach Robinson and Oscar Gustave Rejlander; Naturalistic and Impressionist works by Peter Henry Emerson, Pictorialism by Frank Meadow, documentary by Horace W. Nichols; photographs by the Society's founders William Henry Fox Talbot and Roger Fenton and America's sensational artists Clarence H. White, Alfred Stieglitz, Edward J. Steichen, Alvin Langdon Coburn and Frederick Holland Day.

"Treasures Of The Royal Photographic Society: 1839-1916," was organized and is being circulated by the International Exhibitions Foundation, Washington, D.C., in cooperation with the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain, and is sponsored by the SCM Corporation. In addition, the other items are currently on display at the museum.

Ag Affairs

by Ed Blake

Harder than usual times and high prices have caused a sharp increase in rural crime in Mississippi in 1980, according to the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Cattle were scored as highest priority on the hit list with the result that during the first three months of this year a sharp 46 percent increase in cattle thefts was reported - while over a six-month period from September to March cattle thefts showed a 25 percent increase over the same period a year earlier.

Don Bray, director of the livestock theft bureau of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, said the sharp rise in cattle thefts can be attributed to the slump in the overall economy, rising food costs, and rising prices of live cattle.

These conditions, Bray said, should serve as a signal to cattlemen to take extra precautions to protect their herds from theft.

The law enforcement agency official added that recorded statistics on thefts fall short of telling the entire story since for every ten cases that are reported to law enforcement authorities, about three to four others, on an average, go unreported.

Bray cautioned that if the general economy continues to worsen, cattlemen should be alert to protect themselves against an even greater toll from their herds, including the slaughtering and butchering of animals right in the pastures.

There are effective preventive measures that cattlemen should take to reduce their theft losses and set in motion the possible arrest and conviction of these criminals. They include branding of animals with properly registered brands, posting signs warning thieves that the animals are permanently branded, and trying to maintain a daily count of cattle herds so thefts will be detected quickly to make it easier to investigate the disappearance.

Cattlemen who are away from their stock for any period of time should arrange for someone else to regularly check the property and stock, keeping in mind that about 80 percent of cattle thefts occur in isolated pastures and feedlots.

Fence maintenance prevents straying cattle which are more vulnerable to theft, Bray pointed out, while cautioning that fences, gates, chains and locks should be on the regular check list as well as the herds. He advocates double locks on gates for better security.

Citizens cite 'deficiencies' at Bay elementary schools

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The newly formed Bay-Waveland Committee for Better Education Monday night called for correction of several alleged deficiencies at North Bay and Waveland Elementary Schools.

The deficiencies are preventing accreditation of the two Bay Municipal Separate School District institutions by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools the organization protested. A representative of the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization also appeared at the district's regular meeting Monday night to 'recommend' two improvements at that school.

The district's Board of Trustees agreed to take measures to correct one of the suggested improvements. Thomas Raphael of Bay St. Louis, representing the Bay-Waveland Committee, called for qualified librarians, elimination of interschool competitive sports, accredited teachers, half-hour planning periods for teachers and expenditure of $15 per student for media center materials at both elementary schools.

"We believe that the economic and social benefits accruing from system-wide accreditation will be good for the future development of the entire community," Raphael stated.

Raphael also chided the board for the 'downplayed' importance they attributed to Southern Association accreditation at a previous meeting.

Regarding librarians, Raphael said, "...neither elementary school has a professionally qualified librarian."

Commenting on sports in the elementary grades, Raphael explained, "Students at the elementary level have nothing to gain and everything to lose in the present elementary physical education situation."

In his plea for half-hour planning periods, he cited, "Teacher burnout and tranquilizer dependencies are major problems in every school system in this nation. Give the teachers some time away from students each day."

The only request the board granted the organization was to allow the group two representatives on the district's Educational Needs Assessment Committee.

Andrews Wilkinson of Waveland, president of the Bay St. Louis Local American Federation of Teachers, also called for the board to place representatives on the committee.

Trustee James Ginn of Bay St. Louis offered a motion for three committee members on the Needs Committee, but the motion died for lack of a second.

THOMAS RAPHAEL

Then, Bay-Waveland Committee Co-Chairman Janice Parker reported, "If two or even just one person from our group were on the committee it would be satisfactory."

The board unanimously approved a motion offered by Trustee Walter Turcott for two representatives on the committee.

Parker commended the board for reversing a previous motion which would have awarded a bid contract to school district employees.

However, Parker reported her organization was 'very disappointed' that a letter sent to the school board introducing the Bay-Waveland Committee 'was not acknowledged in public session before the board.'

The co-chairman also said her organization was 'concerned' about the board's recent executive session to discuss its 1980-81 budget.

"Please don't answer that it is because of personalities involved. We cannot accept that personalities are involved spending almost $3 million of the taxpayers' money," Parker stated. Parker asked for an explanation of a $400 expenditure for cheerleader shoes.

A hushed silence filled the room. Then, Superintendent of Education J.

D. McCulloch began explaining various procedures used in purchasing items which only drew several more questions from the audience.

Cheerleader sponsor Cathy Carter then explained the expenditure for shoes for both junior and senior high cheerleaders.

"I usually end up helping the high school out by buying shoes in volume for all for all cheerleaders," the junior-high cheerleader sponsor said.

"We had to give the money to Mr. Mack (McCulloch) to write a check so we would not have to pay tax on the shoes," Carter added.

Regarding alleged deteriorating conditions at North Bay, former Parent-Teacher Organization president Lana Noonan informed the board, "We would like to be on record as having notified the board that it appears some of the playground equipment is worn out and possibly dangerous."

"The budget recently adopted provided, to the best of our recollection, approximately $5,000 for 'playground improvements' at the elementary school," Noonan stated.

The former organization president also cited that "90-100 percent" of the windows at North Bay do not operate properly and cannot be closed securely.

PCP levels insignificant in Mississippi Sound test

After analyzing a second batch of samples collected last week in the western part of Mississippi Sound, scientists at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory of Ocean Springs still find no evidence of increased levels of pentachlorophenol (PCP) in Mississippi waters.

"There is nothing at this time that would cause us to believe that we are receiving any PCP from the Louisiana spill," stated Dr. William Walker, microbiologist in charge of interpreting results of the tests to measure the content of PCP.

The spilled chemical is a pesticide. It is contained in creosote and is used to preserve wooden structures around and in the water. Pentachlorophenol is the second most widely applied pesticide in the United States, according to Dr. K. Ranga Rao of the University of West Florida, Pensacola, an authority. The latest tests were conducted on samples collected August 5 at stations near the mouth of Lake Borgne, La., on St. Joe Reef (oyster), Telegraph Reef (oyster), and in Chandeleur Sound.

Samples were taken of the water at the bottom, midway, and at the surface; oysters were collected from the two reefs, and bottom sediments were taken at all four stations.

Additional samples were stated to be collected by GCRL personnel on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dr. Harold D. Howse, director, said, to determine whether reopening the Mississippi River-Gulf Outlet in Louisiana results in increased PCP in Mississippi waters.

The results of tests on those samples will be announced as soon as they are completed, Dr. Howse said.

Federal agency maps pinpoint flood areas

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Sea Coast Echo today continues its three-part series on the National Flood Insurance Program based on a series of questions and answers provided by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Today's questions deal with the Federal Insurance Agency's mapping of flood-prone areas, and requirements and prohibitions of the program.

Mapping
24. Q. Why does FIA publish maps showing a community's flood-prone areas?

A. The law requires FEMA to notify every flood-prone community nationwide that it has one or more flood-prone areas. The reason for this mapping effort is to help communities better manage flood-prone areas, avoid future losses, and alert citizens of these communities to the hazard they face.

25. Q. How is a community initially notified that it has one or more flood-prone areas?

A. FIA publishes a map called a "Flood Hazard Boundary Map." This map shows the flood-prone areas within the community. These flood-prone areas are labeled on the map "special flood hazard areas." Along with the map, FIA sends a letter explaining the program, application forms for the Emergency Program (See No. 5), and program information to community officials.

26. Q. What is a "special flood hazard area"?

A. An area subject to inundation from an intermediate level of flooding, also referred to as the "base flood." It appears as an "A" zone area on the initial Flood Hazard Boundary Map. Most often on the community's Flood Insurance Rate Map—the second map the community receives—the "A" zone is refined into numbered zones (A1, A2, A3, etc.) that reflect the degree of flood risk for that area.

The risk zones are used by insurance agents for the proper rating of new properties to be insured under the Regular Program. Also, a community enrolled in the Regular Program must use the flood elevations shown on the Rate Map as the minimum building levels for new construction.

27. Q. What is the "base flood" and how often is it expected to recur?

A. This is a term used to describe the intermediate level of flooding the program is geared to protect against. It is also referred to as the "100-year flood."

Over a 30-year period—the life of most mortgages—there is about one chance in four (25 percent) that this level of flooding will occur in a given area.

28. Q. How soon after receiving the initial Flood Hazard Boundary Map should a community qualify for the Emergency Program?

A. Immediately, to provide property owners with flood insurance. At the latest, however, a community should apply within one year of the effective date of the Flood Hazard Boundary Map.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS AND PROHIBITIONS

29. Q. What happens if an identified flood-prone community does not qualify for the Emergency Program within the recommended time frame?

A. By law, Federal agencies may not approve grant money, mortgage backing (FHA mortgage insurance, VA mortgage guarantees, etc.) direct loans, disaster relief in most circumstances, or any other taxpayer funds to support the purchase, construction, or improvement of property located in the community's identified flood-prone areas.

This ban, which applies only in the community's flood hazard areas, would remain in effect for as long as the community chooses not to participate in the program.

Effectively, the law simply refuses to grant Federal benefits for buildings in areas of communities that will not require reasonable construction practices to address known flood risks. To do otherwise would be a poor investment of taxpayers' money since floods inevitably will occur.

30. Q. When should a community already enrolled in the Emergency Program upgrade its local building standards to qualify for the Regular Program?

A. No later than the effective date of the Flood Insurance Rate Map—usually six months from the date FIA gives a community final notice of base flood elevations.

These flood elevations, as explained in No. 5, are derived from FEMA's on-site field survey for an area, published twice as proposed findings in a local newspaper, and shown on the Flood Insurance Rate Map.

The community is kept informed of the study and its results through meetings with FIA representatives, newspaper notices, and letters to local officials. (Before any of the program's prohibitions become final however the community has an opportunity to appeal FIA's determinations. See No. 39-45 for more details.)

31. Q. What happens if a community does not upgrade its flood plain management measures to qualify for the Regular Program by the recommended date?

A. The community will be suspended from the program. This means that flood insurance can no longer be purchased in the community. Also, the lending restrictions referred to in No. 29, including the denial of disaster relief in most circumstances, would apply for as long as the community remained out of the program.

32. Q. May a community qualify for the Emergency Program or become enrolled or reinstated in the Regular Program at a date later than the recommended one?

A. Yes. When this occurs, the forms of Federal financial assistance described in No. 29 will again become available.

33. Q. When is flood insurance required by law?

A. In order to get financing to buy, build, or improve property located in the FEMA-identified flood-prone areas ("A" zone or "V" zones areas) of a community where flood insurance is available.

The law applies to any mortgage loan, grant, or other funding that in any way is federally connected—either direct financing from a Federal Agency (FHA, VA loans, EPA grants, etc.) or a conventional mortgage from a bank or savings and loan that is regulated or insured by the Federal Government.

In short, flood insurance is required if: (1) the community is in the Flood Insurance program, (2) a FEMA flood map is in effect for the community in question, (3) the property which is the subject of the loan is located in a FEMA flood-prone area, and (4) the financing is through the Federal government or a federally-connected lender.

34. Q. Who decides whether individual properties require flood insurance?

A. When the loan, grant, etc. is directly from a Federal agency, the agency itself must make the decision. In the case of private institutions covered by the Act, the lender must decide. In certain cases, where a lending institution is making an FHA or VA loan, the duty should be shared by both the lending institution and Federal Agency.

35. Q. Is flood insurance required when only a portion of a lot is in a FEMA-identified hazard area?

A. If no part of the building is in a "special flood hazard area" and only the land or a portion of it is in such an area, then flood insurance is not required. If any part of the building is in a flood hazard area then flood insurance is required.

36. Q. Is flood insurance required outside of "A" or "V" zone areas?

A. Not by law. However, lenders, to protect their investments, may require the insurance outside of the required areas.

37. Q. How much flood insurance is required by law?

A. In an amount equal to the outstanding balance of a loan or the limits noted in the chart in answer No. 10, whichever is less.

38. Q. Must a lender notify a borrower that a property is in a "special flood hazard area" and if so when?

A. Yes. Not less than 10 days prior to the closing of the transaction, the lender must either (1) give written notice to the borrower or (2) obtain written assurance from the seller or landlord that the borrower has been notified of such hazards.

The lender must also notify prospective buyers whether, in the event of a flood disaster, Federal disaster relief would be available to the property. This requirement is of the utmost importance for home buyers who need to know whether they could be denied disaster relief on the property for a future flood.

They would not be eligible for this relief if the property securing the loan is in the flood hazard area of a community that is not participating in the flood insurance program by the specified time.

State home mortgage funds to be available in October

Home buyers interested in a low cost 30 year first mortgage loan from the Mississippi Housing Finance Corporation should immediately contact a savings and loan, a bank, a mortgage lender, or other financial institutions in the community to discuss loan qualifications, according to a corporation officer.

Lending institutions are required to notify the MHFC by August 18 as to the amount of loans they anticipate making from the $150 million revenue bond issue.

Robert Kennington, chairman of the State Housing Finance Agency said, "The various mortgage lenders around the state need to have some idea of the public interest and demand for this type of loan so that they can gauge their commitment of funds from the Corporation."

"While formal applications for the loans are not being taken now, those persons interested in applying should give their local lending institution some notice of anticipated interest," he explained.

Eligible borrowers can qualify if their adjusted gross income does not exceed $30,000 and the loan amount does not exceed $80,000.

Additionally, borrowers must have adequate credit qualifications.

Each county in the state will be allocated an amount of funds for its residents to borrow.

If no qualified lender exists in a county, a corresponding lending institution in another county may service the eligible citizens.

The sale of the mortgage revenue bonds is scheduled to be completed by September 15 and the funds should be available to the mortgage lending institutions by late October, 1980.

Kudzu conquers south, moves north and west

What grows a mile-a-minute, is able to leap up an empty house in a single summer, and is nearly indestructible? Look! Up in the trees! It's kudzu!

Kudzu? That's right. Kudzu is an exotic vine with a broad three-pointed leaf and woody stem which was imported to the U.S. from Asia, according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

And while many Southerners call it the mile-a-minute vine, it doesn't grow quite that fast.

Actually, "at most, a stem can grow about one foot per day," says the National Wildlife Federation's monthly publication for children.

Once kudzu starts to grow, it doesn't want to stop. The vine has engulfed much of the South, where long growing seasons and abundant precipitation are to its liking.

Now it's spreading northward into Kentucky, Virginia, and Maryland, and westward into Texas and Oklahoma.

The plant begins growing in the early spring with its green tendrils radiating from its tap roots. It produces great quantities of foliage and, by late summer, clusters of fragrant purple flowers.

Its tendrils can grow 60 feet in a season, often climbing vertical obstacles as high as 40 feet.

"Americans first saw kudzu at the Japanese exhibit during the U.S. Centennial celebration in 1876," reports Ranger Rick.

"They liked the way it looked, so they began to plant the vine to shade their porches."

By the early 1900's farmers found that kudzu was inexpensive forage for livestock. During the Great Depression, it was discovered that the vine's deep roots, dense foliage, and rapid growth, along with its contribution of nitrogen to the soil, provided ground cover to control erosion, stabilize road banks, and rejuvenate nitrogen-deficient soil. Some southerners called it the "miracle vine."

Asians have always put kudzu to good use. In Japan the vines are used to make cloth, baskets, and paper, and hay is made from the leaves. The Chinese grind up the vines to make a popular kind of flour.

For most Americans, however, kudzu has lost its charm. Farmers have found that as forage, it is easily overgrazed, and much of the vine is woody stem, useless as hay. It also invades pastures and crowds out crops. An estimated one million acres or more of southern farm, forest, and pasture land are now covered by kudzu.

The vine isn't popular with foresters, either, since it engulfs all vegetation in its path, killing both large trees and saplings. "Telephone vines," says Ranger Rick. So kudzu's aggressive growing behavior outweighs the positive qualities which caused many southern communities to form "kudzu clubs" and elect "kudzu queens" back in the '40's. Now the U.S. Department of Agriculture lists the vine as a common weed.

Since the vine has spread so widely in the South, only a massive eradication effort using chemical herbicides would be effective. Economic and environmental costs make such a campaign unlikely.

So landowners wage their own battles against the "mile-a-minute" vine, remembering that if kudzu is on the loose, you can't stand in one place for too long.

The versatile-in-cookery onion, pungent and aromatic, adds, as we all know, its special flavor to perk-up to roasts, salads, casseroles, soups, stews and so on and on. It stands on its own as a vegetable, though too few cooks seem to realize this and make use of it.

And, would you believe it, the onion, that underground bulb, is a member of the lily of the valley family, along with the tulip, the chive, the shallot, and so forth? A rose by any other name, and all that sort of thing.

The word "onion" comes from French through Latin, because of the single-shaped bulb, and -I've forgotten the exact words - the ancient Egyptians considered the onion the Symbol of the Universe.

A slave building the great Pyramids of Egypt, history tells us, existed on a diet of onions, radishes and garlic... healthy, I'm sure, but not conducive to making and keeping friends about... and the American Indians enjoyed wild onions with their other foods.

From the tiniest buttons to the huge red onions, there's a special tang to them. A real taste treat, somewhat out of the ordinary, is FRENCH STUFFED ONIONS.

6 onions, preferably Bermuda, peeled
1/2 lb. ground ham, beef, veal or chicken
2 strips bacon, chopped or diced
1/4 cup sour cream
1 tbs. or so of chopped celery, or chives and parsley
1 cup soft bread crumbs (don't toast 'em this time)

Butter or margarine
1 cup stock or bouillon
Parboil the onions ten minutes or so, till tender.

Scoop out the centers, set the shells aside and chop the pulp you've removed. Sauté this with the ground meat and bacon, and add all other ingredients except the butter and bouillon.

Stuff the onion shells with the mixture, dot with butter, bake in a shallow casserole or pan, in which you've poured the bouillon first, in a preheated oven at 400 degrees for 45 minutes.

Change in food intake lowers blood pressure

Eating equal amounts of polyunsaturated fats and saturated fats, as well as fewer total fats, lowered blood pressure in U.S. Department of Agriculture experiments.

In three separate studies of 70 healthy men and women between 40 and 60 years old, blood pressure was reduced to the normal range from the moderately hypertensive state by equalizing the amounts of polyunsaturated fats and saturated fats in their diets, said Barbara McLaurin, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service food and nutrition specialist.

The typical American diet contains about twice as much saturated fat as polyunsaturated fat and between 40 and 45 percent of calories come from fat. Dietary fats may increase the occurrence of high blood pressure, a silent killer which claims hundreds of thousands of American lives each year.

When you take pills to reduce blood pressure, you relieve only symptoms while the disease process continues, Mrs. McLaurin said.

"More research is being done to learn the best diet for reducing blood pressure. But data show that a reduction was accomplished by selecting foods commonly available in grocery stores and supermarkets," she said. While the mechanism of blood pressure reduction is not understood fully, it is thought that a class of compounds called "prostaglandins" is involved.

These compounds (prostaglandins), which arise in the body from polyunsaturated fatty acids, may serve as hormonal regulators, increasing salt and water excretion as well as blood pressure.

The subjects' weights remained constant throughout these experiments, so the known effect of weight loss as a factor in reducing blood pressure was eliminated.

The level of sodium in the subjects' diets equaled 8 to 10 grams of salt a day, about the average amount people use. This included sodium in food as well as salt added at the table.

"Sodium is believed to contribute to high blood pressure by causing the body tissue to retain too much fluid and by interfering with natural body processes that help maintain normal blood pressure. Research findings suggest that a person who eats a lot of sodium is more likely to develop high blood pressure," she said.

The USDA studies showed that the kinds of fat eaten, that is, the ratio, is an important factor in lowering blood pressure. As part of the experiment, scientists were able to reverse the process and elevate blood pressure by increasing the proportion of saturated fats relative to polyunsaturated fats in the diets.

DRUM CORPS EVENT

The 1980 Drum Corps International Championships will be televised live from Birmingham, Ala., at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, August 16, on the Mississippi ETV Network. Only the top 12 corps in the United States and Canada win the right to take the field at the championship for a show that may last no more than 13 minutes. The corps compete not only for musical and marching excellence, but for the originality and difficulty of their performances. Often as little as a tenth of a point (out of a possible one hundred) separates winners from runners-up. The four- and one-half-hour extravaganza is a combination World Series and Super Bowl for the thousands of drum corps participants, ranging in age from 12 to 21. A half-hour pre-competition show will explain the fundamentals of drum corps competition and reveal the personalities of some of the outstanding corps. Rita Moreno will serve as host for the evening's festivities.

ANIMALS OF PREY

Robert Redford narrates an hour-long documentary on the plight of predators, or animals of prey, in North America. "Predators," first seen last November, can be seen again at 9 p.m., Monday, August 18, on the Mississippi ETV Network. For thousands of years, species like the wolf and the shrew have played an integral role in the balance of nature. Environmentalists contend that man's takeover of much of the North American wilderness has upset that relationship. "The Predators" examines the impact of this new development on nature and the natural selection process.

GENESIS ROCK, by Edw. Corley.

Pass Christian-based author Ed Corley, who has also written under the names of David Harper, William Judson and Patrick Buchanan, has another to add to his already impressive string of best sellers.

And, best of all, it is a good story well told without stooping into gutter sex like so many "adult fiction" books of today.

Either Corley is psychic or he swallowed a horse shoe, because the eruption of Mt. Helena on the West Coast came at the exact right time to promote interest in this story which is based on a volcanic eruption - that threatens to engulf and destroy New York City.

Suspense builds nicely in the book to the surprising climax. Corley is an intensely private man who is almost anti-social in behavior. He locks himself in his work room each day and applies his seat to the chair and his fingers to the typewriter, which accounts for his prodigious book production.

THE EARTH AND ALL IT HOLDS, V. J. Banis.

Set in California at the turn of the century, with the California wine country as its dominant theme, this continuing saga of the deBrussac family combines the best elements of romance and historical story telling, somewhat reminiscent of Margaret Mitchell.

A sequel to Banis' earlier book, "This Splendid Earth," which delineated the flight of the deBrussacs from revolutionary France and their emergence as prosperous wine growers in California, this book follows the new generation and its children through days of peace into the turmoil of World War I, through labor troubles in the vineyards to the newly discovered oil fields in the Los Angeles countryside, as they come to terms with the past and make their own new world.

Bell delivering new telephone directories

South Central Bell will begin delivering nearly 120,000 copies of the Mississippi Gulf Coast's new telephone directory August 12, 1980.

The company's District Manager, F. M. Kyle, Jr., said it will require about 10 days to deliver the new books. "We anticipate that delivery will be completed by August 22, 1980," he said. Any customers who do not receive their directory by August 25, 1980 should call the business office," he added.

Kyle said the front cover of the new directory features a color scene of a familiar and beautiful Mississippi Coast sight, Seagulls on the beach. The circulation of this much referred to directory with its attractive cover, here and throughout the country should serve to promote our coastal area.

According to Kyle, too few recipients are likely to devote more than a passing glance to the directory's first few pages - known as the "Call Guide." Many telephone users are not aware of the variety of helpful information the Call Guide pages contain.

"Most important," he emphasized "is the portion devoted to emergency numbers. This can be even more valuable if you take time to study it carefully before an emergency. You should also write in special numbers you might need later, such as the number of your personal physician."

"In addition," Kyle said, "the Call Guide in the new Mississippi Gulf Coast directory tells how to place local and long distance calls, how to reach the telephone company business office and other helpful information." The Call Guide also includes a handy list of area code numbers for use in making long distance calls.

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society has three mixed-breed puppies, six-week-old, two male and one female, available for adoption to a home with a fenced yard. Also available for adoption is a nine-month-old male Scottish terrier-poodle with a gentle disposition; a five-month-old male German shepherd, and a seven-month-old small, white male, part terrier.

PRC's 71st year of activity gets underway August 21st

Everything is ready for the 71st school year to begin at Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville.

PRC faculty members, including the Hancock, Forrest and Lamar County staffs, will report to the Poplarville campus at 8:15 a.m. Thursday, August 21.

The String of Pearls, band, flag corp and cheerleaders will also report Thursday morning to begin preparation for the first Wildcat home game scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 13, against the Jones Bobcats.

Registration actually begins Monday, August 25 and will continue through Tuesday, August 26 according to the published alphabetical listing from the Director of Admissions office.

Pearl River College dormitories will open Thursday, August 21 at 3 p.m.

The PRC commuter buses will begin regular routes Friday August 22. Buses will service all counties supporting Pearl River.

Pearl River class schedule includes seven class periods for Monday, Wednesday and Friday, while only four longer periods are set aside for Tuesday and Thursday. An activity period for all clubs and organizations is sandwiched between the 75 minute periods on Tuesday and Thursday.

It is possible for a student to arrange a full college load on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, permitting Tuesday and Thursday to be free; or a student can attend class on Tuesday and Thursday and off the other days of the week.

A third alternative is to schedule classes for the mornings, Monday through Friday and have every afternoon off.

Fall classes begin Wednesday, August 27 at 8:10 a.m. Sophomores will register

Monday, August 25 beginning at 8 a.m. in the Academic Building according to last name alphabetical listing.

New, transfer and former students will begin registering, also by the scheduled last name procedure at 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. and continue Tuesday morning, August 26 at 8 a.m. All registration should be completed by noon on Tuesday.

Late registration begins Wednesday, August 27 at 8:10 a.m. the same time classes actually begin. Students may change their schedule through Friday, September 10. Registration is a very important aspect of getting off to a good school year and over the past few years the procedure has been streamlined considerably here at PRC.

"It is necessary that the registration schedule is followed to insure an orderly and fair registration system," Lott said, "that's why the registration times must be followed."

No student will be permitted to register earlier than the scheduled time; however, a student may register after the appointed time.

For more information contact Dr. Willis Lott at 795-4558.

Parents seeking year-long education for handicapped

The first major pretrial procedure in a lawsuit seeking 12 month public education for mentally and emotionally handicapped children in Mississippi has been set by a federal judge.

A pretrial conference in the class action suit, Crawford vs. Pittman, has been scheduled for Sept. 12, by U.S. Dist. Judge L.T. Senter.

The Crawford vs. Pittman suit was filed by the families of seven children attending schools in the Tupelo Municipal Separate School District, the Western Line School District in Washington and Issaquena Counties and the Hazlehurst Municipal Separate School District. Plaintiffs allege the schools failed to provide their children with an education appropriate to their handicaps as mandated by Public Law 94-142.

These parents said their children tended to regress over the summer vacation months losing skills they had acquired during the regular nine month academic session.

Consequently, they argued that a 12 month education is appropriate to their children's need.

Although no date has been set for the trial of the suit, a spokesman for the parents said the trial would probably be held shortly after the Sept. 12, pretrial conference.

"Normally a trial is heard within several months after a pretrial conference," said Billy Potts, director of The Advocacy Office in Jackson, one of the three agencies representing the parents.

Potts also said the parents had decided not to appeal an earlier injunctive decision in which the court decided not to order the schools involved to provide summer education for the seven children while the case itself was pending in court.

"Because the conferences will be conducted so soon, and because so much of the summer has already elapsed, we have decided not to appeal the decision in the injunctive hearing," Potts said.

"We prefer to concentrate our efforts on the upcoming trial on the merits of the case," he said.

"We hope that by the end of the upcoming academic year this issue will have been settled by the court and Mississippi's mentally and emotionally handicapped children will be assured of 12 month public education," he said.

"This is a class action suit and the plaintiff class has been defined as all mentally and emotionally handicapped children in Mississippi who receive, or will in the future receive, special education and related services..." Potts said.

"For some mentally and emotionally handicapped children a 12-month education program is their only chance to retain enough skills to lead independent lives. Without 12 month education many will forever be dependent on the state either through the welfare rolls, or living in one of the state's institutions," he said.

"As we have said again and again, the cost of providing 12 month education is far less than the cost of failing to provide it," Potts said.

Bay gridiron specialist joins PRC Wildcats

There has been some good news and some bad news around the Pearl River College football office in Poplarville, according to J.C. Arban, head football coach.

The bad news is two returning sophomores and five freshman signees will not be reporting to camp Sunday, Aug. 17 at 2 p.m.

The good news is that two standout performers who signed at the end of last school session, one from Bay St. Louis, will join the Wildcats this fall.

"At this date we know there are seven players who will not be with us," Arban said.

The biggest loss for the Wildcats is Jerry Phillips of Hattiesburg, a standout defensive end and lineman last year for the Cats.

"Jerry could have been one of the best in the league," said Arban, who was counting on the big man to lead his defense.

Phillips reported he has grade problems but elected not to attend summer school to make up the course hours.

Victor Booth, a runningback from Hattiesburg who saw limited playing time last year, also will not return because of academic problems.

Freshmen signees Donnie Lewis and Ray Oatis of Columbia have elected to play for Mississippi Valley College and Christopher McCloud of Bassfield said he is not going to attend college.

End and defensive back Stanley Hinton of Poplarville will not join the Wildcats because he enlisted in the U.S. Army, and Jeff Robbins, a guard from Picayune, decided not to play college football.

"We know for sure these players are not coming this fall, and there may be others who will not show up by the time two-a-day practices begin," the head coach said.

Now for the good news. David Depreo, an offensive guard from Bay St. Louis, will be returning to the Wildcat squad.

Arban thought earlier that Depreo would have to report for training in the U.S. Navy Reserves.

Two weeks ago the PRC skipper signed Woodrow Ducksworth, a six-foot-one, 210 pound linebacker. Ducksworth played for the Hattiesburg High Tigers in 1975 and has spent the past four years in the U.S. Army.

According to Arban, Ducksworth is a big plus for his Wildcats.

Pearl River players will report to the stadium Sunday, with two-a-day practices beginning Monday. Season opens on the road Sept. 4 against Mississippi Delta.

Oliver, Geddy eliminated from Lipton doubles

Ginger and Danny Olsen of Ocean Springs defeated Denise Oliver and Don Geddy of Bay St. Louis to take the sectional title in the Lipton Iced Tea Mixed Doubles Championship recently conducted at Diamondhead.

The Olsens will now compete Aug. 24 in the regional playoff at Diamondhead. 32 regional playoffs will be conducted in the nation during August.

Winners of the regional events will advance to the U.S. finals at Sawgrass in Ponte Verda, Fla., where the amateur teams will attend the Lipton World of Doubles ATP men's professional doubles tournament.

Some 64 of the world's best professional teams compete for $175,000 in prize money in that competition.

This year the U.S. mixed doubles team travels to Monaco in October to compete with teams from other countries.

Two-mile run set in Bogalusa

The Bogalusa Striders will host the Mile Lumber Company Two Mile Run Aug. 23 at Lake Choctaw, located between Bogalusa and Franklinton La. in Washington Parish.

The race, originally slated for Aug. 16, was changed to 9 a.m. Aug. 23.

Registration on the day of the race will be conducted from 7:45 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. The entry fee is $3 and includes a t-shirt to be awarded each runner.

Trophies or medallions will be awarded to top finishers in each age group.

For more information contact Race Director Richard W. Brown at (504)-732-4250 or 732-7064, or write the Bogalusa Striders, Box 1073, Bogalusa, La., 70427.

Winter duck population may decline

Mississippi duck hunters should have essentially the same bag limits and number of hunting days as last year, according to state wildlife officials.

What remains to be seen is how many ducks head South for the winter this year.

State waterfowl hunters will have 50 days of duck hunting and a daily bag limit of four drake mallards, Department of Wildlife Conservation Executive Director Richard Yancey said recently.

"Mississippi this year will again be the only state in the nation where duck hunters may shoot until Jan. 31. Our five-member commission will make the final decision on opening and closing season dates in a meeting in Jackson Aug. 19," Yancey said Wednesday.

Yancey made the statements Wednesday morning after returning from two days of meetings in Washington, D.C. with Interior Department officials and conservation groups from across the nation.

Recommendations on waterfowl seasons across the U.S. were made to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at the meeting.

"At these meetings the fall forecasts were fully considered," Yancey said. "Due to the drought on the prairie region of Canada, the Mississippi Flyway's fall flight of ducks should be off about 17 percent from last year."

Yancey explained that with less water on the breeding grounds and poorer habitat conditions, hunters can expect to see a higher percentage of adult ducks in the wintering population.

"These birds will be harder to hunt because they are older and very wary. But this is a compensating factor that protects the annual breeding stock against over shooting," Yancey explained.

In addition, Yancey explained the Canada goose season will be reopened at Sardis Reservoir this year for about a month. The season there should be open Nov. 15 and extend through Dec. 14, closing before the arrival of Canada geese from the Mississippi Valley population.

State wildlife biologists have been working toward restoring wintering populations of the large geese in the lower Mississippi River Valley.

In 1979 a plan was finally agreed upon by the states in the Flyway with a goal of moving 200,000 geese south of the 36 degree parallel by mid-winter. Such an accomplishment would greatly enhance waterfowl management in the South and

Special to the Sea Coast Echo

The horse flipped over the 11-year-old jockey from Gulfport, who had won 31 races in seven Sundays of racing.

Peterman was taken to a hospital for treatment. The horse suffered a broken rear leg and had to be destroyed.

PEARL RIVER, LA.—Rocky Hill Bailey, owned and trained by James Watson of Waveland, suffered her first career defeat at Oak Downs in Pearl River Sunday.

Dial Girl, owned and trained by Albert Gaston of Mobile, Ala., won the 350-yard ninth race to defeat the unbeaten filly.

Watson was tied for second in wins in the trainer division at Oak Downs the week before.

Horses owned by the Comfort Family of Hancock County won two races Sunday in action at Oak Downs.

Ms. Moon won the eighth race and Chiggy Norton won the 12th race, both three-eighth mile races.

Both horses are owned by Frank Comfort Sr., trained by his son Frank Jr., and ridden by another son, Marty.

In other action Sunday, the first serious mishap at the Pearl River track occurred when top jockey Jeff Peterman was injured and his mount had to be destroyed after flipping over the rail.

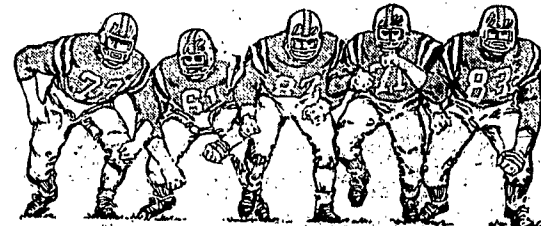

Peterman suffered a jaw injury when The Fiddler hit the inside rail near the start of the 350-yard 10th race against Cookie's Red Boy.

USM studying volcanic rock

The Mississippi Mineral Resources Institute has awarded $15,000 to the University of Southern Mississippi for a continued study of subterranean rocks in the west-central part of the state.

The study, now in its second year, was designed to map underground volcanic strata and to search for traces of buried mineral deposits by studying core samples taken from oil well drillings.

According to the project director, Dr. Daniel Sundeen, progress has been made in both research areas.

Selected rock samples have been sent from the USM study to analytical laboratories for testing for trace elements of valuable minerals.

"We are trying to identify sources of minerals or metals which are either not mined or are in short supply in the U.S.," Sundeen said.

"Studies like this could lead to this country's independence from foreign imports of minerals vital to our economy and national defense."

Many geologists believe that there was a continental break-up in the central part of the U.S. about 100 million years ago.

VFW hosts

veterans

The Theodore S. Price VFW Post and Auxiliary No. 3253 recently entertained 25 patients and attendants from the Gulfport VA Hospital with a spaghetti supper at the Post Home on Blatz Avenue.

Serving the patients and attendants were Harris Boudreaux, senior vice-commander; Elmer Maki, quartermaster; Bobbie Carver, Post Commander; Lucille Boudreaux, auxiliary president; Ursula Favre, senior vice-president; Joyce Bermond, junior vice-president; Esther Cuevas, chaplain; Marie Maki, treasurer; Genevieve Cole, conductress; Zedie Bermond, secretary; and Sylvia Moran.

According to Sundeen the mapping efforts of the study indicate support of that theory.

MSU registration slated Aug. 25-26

Regular registration for the 1980 fall semester at Mississippi State University will be Aug. 25-26 in Humphrey Coliseum.

Classes will begin Aug. 27. L.D. Furgerson, dean of records and registration, said students who have pre-registered may pick up registration packets only at or after scheduled times posted by the records office.

"Students who did not participate in advance registration may register on Monday, Aug. 25," Furgerson said.

The last day a student may register or add courses is Sept. 8.

Complete registration schedules are available in the Allen Hall Lobby and the Student Union Building.

Medic teaches man, fish communications

Dr. John C. Lilly of Sea World in San Diego, Calif., a leading authority on communications between the dolphin and man, spoke recently to Gerald Corcoran's class in basic techniques in marine science for teachers at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's Marine Education Center in Biloxi.

Lilly discussed a new concept of communication with the mammals. The technique uses a computer named Janus that converts the alphabet into different sound frequencies, one for each letter and one for each digit.

The frequencies are transmitted to the dolphins through hydrophones on the theory that if the dolphins recognize and repeat the different sounds, they can be taught the alphabet and, eventually, words.

RECORD ENROLLMENT — Dr. Willis Lott, seated, director of admissions at Pearl River College, is all smiles as he shows Miller Hammill, center, dean of student affairs, and Dr. James Sones, vo-tech coordinator, the letters his office is sending to students who have already made application to Pearl River College. Lott is predicting PRC will have another record enrollment this fall semester. Registration for sophomores begins Monday morning, August 25, and freshman, transfer and former students will begin registering Monday afternoon and continue through Tuesday, August 26. Freshman orientation is scheduled for Friday, August 22 at 8:30 a.m. in the PRC Coliseum. (Photo courtesy PRC)

UNO fees hiked

The university fee at the University of New Orleans, which is paid by all students, will increase $25 per semester effective with the 1980 Fall semester.

The additional non-resident fee-assessed students who are not residents of Louisiana is also being increased by $50 per semester.

The increases were approved by the LSU Board of Supervisors at a special meeting July 25 in Baton Rouge.

With the increases, full-time students at UNO, who are residents of Louisiana, will pay $227 a semester and full-time non-resident, or out-of-state, students will pay $302 a semester.

The increase will be proportionately assessed for the summer term and for all part-time students.

The increases were made at the request of the UNO administration to offset operating expenses.

According to UNO Acting Chancellor Cooper R. Mackin, fees at Louisiana state institutions are still among the lowest in the nation and South.

"Beginning with the fall semester, only three Southern states - Texas, Oklahoma and West Virginia - will have lower state higher education fees than Louisiana," he says.

"Resident fees for two semesters averaged $654 for 24 state institutions of the Southern Regional Education Board and the national average of state institutions is $761 for two semesters."

"The university of Arkansas and Arkansas State are initiating 30 percent increases this fall," he says.

"Other states planning increases include Kentucky, with 12 percent at non-doctoral institutions and 18 percent at doctoral institutions; Tennessee, 13 percent for residents and 22 percent for non-residents; and Georgia, 19 percent for residents and 25 percent for non-residents," he noted.

"Mississippi, which increased fees from five to 15 percent last year, is planning increases ranging from three to eight percent this fall and Virginia, which has a formula whereby the state pays 70 percent and the student, 30 percent, is planning to adjust its fees this fall," Mackin said.

Performing Arts Yellow Pages now available

The 1980-81 'Mississippi Performing Arts Touring Yellow Pages' is now available through the Mississippi Arts Commission.

The publication is a directory of Mississippi artists and performing groups available for touring in the state, including the fields of dance, music, opera and theatre.

The booklet is a publication of the Friends of the Arts in Mississippi, Inc. (FAIM), in cooperation with the Mississippi Arts Commission.

It is designed to give Mississippi sponsors, whether arts councils, schools or businesses, a handy resource to local and statewide talent.

Each listing includes the name, address, phone number and name of a contact person for each group. Also included is the type of services available, such as concerts, workshops, lecture-demonstrations; their 1980-81 fees, the number of touring personnel, minimum technical requirements and a brief artist or company narrative.

The directory is just that - a compendium of information of the individuals and groups available. It is not to be viewed as an endorsement by either the Commission or FAIM, Inc., but rather as a tool for sponsors to use in planning performing arts programs.

Anyone wishing to receive the 1980-81 Yellow Pages should call or write the Mississippi Arts Commission, P.O. Box 1341, Jackson 39205, (601) 354-7338.

UNO assists unprepared Fall students

A program aimed at helping underprepared students, particularly minority, handicapped and older students, is being introduced this fall at the University of New Orleans.

Funded by a $250,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Education's Strengthening Developing Institutions Program (SDIP), the program will offer the following services:

Eight sections of a developmental writing course taught five days a week instead of the usual three; four sections of a new reading improvement course; nine sections of freshman mathematics taught five days a week instead of the usual three; and three sections of an intensive English-as-a-Second Language program.

Additional counseling in the occupational information

area as well as counseling directed especially to evening students and special training for faculty advisors will also be offered through the new program, says Michael Duffy, the program's director.

In addition, he says, the university's language laboratory will be significantly improved and an orientation course which is in the process of being designed will be introduced in the spring.

According to Duffy, the English, reading and mathematics courses are remedial and count as credit hours but not as credit towards a UNO degree. They are, he says, designed to prepare students for college-level work.

Anyone who wishes further information on the program should call 283-0229.

VA benefits deadline is Aug. 22

Veterans who develop heart conditions related to certain types of service connected amputations may be eligible to claim increased, retroactive VA benefits providing they apply before August 22, 1980.

These increased payments are the result of a study done by the National Academy of Sciences.

The findings of that study indicate more than a third greater risk of death from all causes for veterans with amputation of both legs or of one leg amputated at or above the knee, compared with veterans who were wounded but had no amputation.

According to the study, the risk from disease of the cardiovascular system was more than 50 percent greater for these amputees.

However, the amputation of arms, hands or feet did not detectably increase the risk of death.

As a consequence of these findings, new VA regulations of ischemic heart disease or other cardiovascular disease developing in veterans with amputation of one leg or above the knee or both legs at or above the ankles.

Further, widows of certain amputee veterans who die of a heart condition that becomes evident after amputation of one or both legs may be entitled to Dependency Indemnity Compensation instead of lesser death pension benefits.

Inquiries under the conditions described should be made to Hancock County Veterans Service Officer, Mike Ladner, 497-2100.

McLeod Park improvements funded by $40,000 grant

The Pearl River Basin Development District has recently completed several additions and improvements at McLeod Water Park in Hancock County.

The grant totaling $40,000, issued by the Heritage Conservation Recreation Service, was utilized by the district to install an entrance-office building, improve the comfort station facilities and add a dumping station for recreational vehicles.

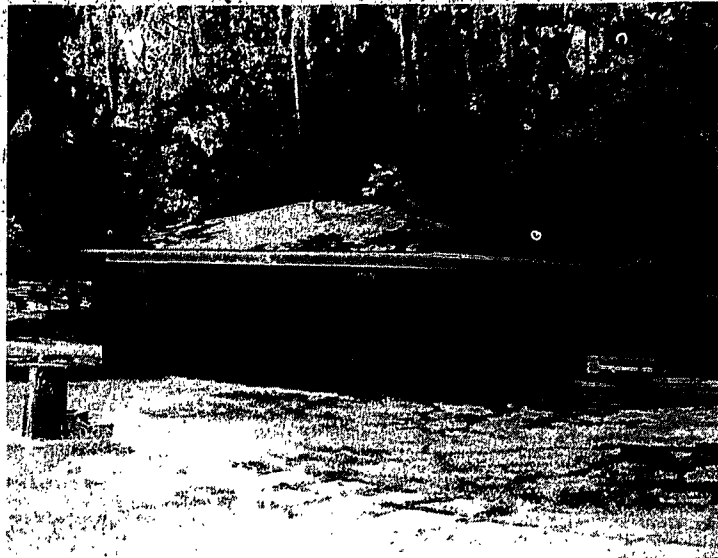

The entrance-office building contains one large assembly room, a first-aid room, storage room and a fee window. Restroom facilities for men and women were also included.

The comfort stations now include shower facilities with hot water and a new septic system. The Hancock County Park Commission assisted the Pearl River Basin Development District in these projects.

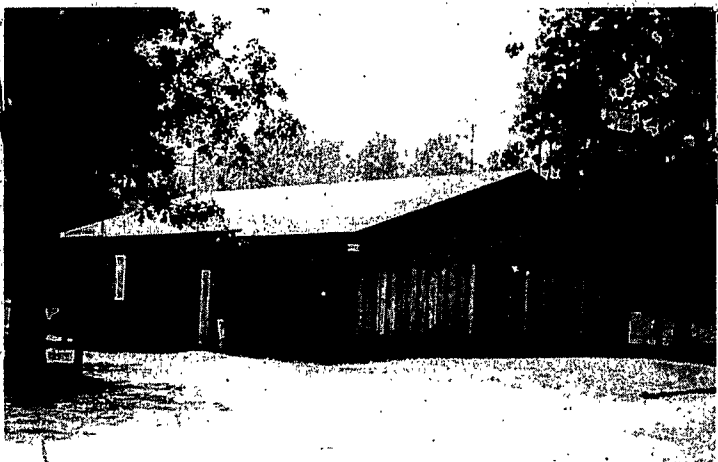

"The Pearl River Basin Development District would like to thank the members of the Hancock County Park Commission for their assistance in these projects and for the outstanding initiative and dedication they have shown in their own projects," said District Board member Norton Haas of Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock County Park Commission has constructed 10 permanent camping hook-ups and should complete 25 additional primitive camping areas in the next 60 days, according to Mary Caillier, park director and secretary-treasurer of the Park Commission.

The Pearl River Basin Development District constructed McLeod Water Park in 1977 in conjunction with the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and the Hancock County

Comfort station, McLeod Park on Jourdan River

Board of Supervisors. The water park provides its visitors with a boat launching ramp with two fishing piers, a two-story pavilion with overlook, a volleyball court, a lighted ballfield, and a picnic area with 20 units.

The park also features a one-mile nature trail with board walks, two comfort stations equipped with showers, entrance-office building, water fountains, area lighting and parking facilities.

McLeod Water Park is also provided with 24-hour security by Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Wall who live on the grounds. Mr. Wall serves as maintenance supervisor and is a commissioned deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Wall also supervises maintenance and collects fees at the office building. A direct radio supplies the park with 24-hour communication with the sheriff's office in case of emergencies.

The construction and improvement of McLeod Water Park is only one of the Pearl River Basin Development District's Projects in Hancock County. The District has also provided Hancock County cities with grants totaling approximately $19,000, funding 12.5 percent of the local share of the cost of developing 201 Sewer Facilities Plans.

These grants aided Waveland, Bay St. Louis and other cities in complying with the Environmental Protection Agency requirements.

The Pearl River Basin Development District is a special fund agency of the State of Mississippi engaged in recreational development, flood control, soil conservation, pollution abatement, and other programs of development along the Pearl River Basin.

UNO assists unprepared Fall students

A program aimed at helping underprepared students, particularly minority, handicapped and older students, is being introduced this fall at the University of New Orleans.

Funded by a $250,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Education's Strengthening Developing Institutions Program (SDIP), the program will offer the following services:

Eight sections of a developmental writing course taught five days a week instead of the usual three; four sections of a new reading improvement course; nine sections of freshman mathematics taught five days a week instead of the usual three; and three sections of an intensive English-as-a Second Language program.

Additional counseling in the occupational information

area as well as counseling directed especially to evening students and special training for faculty advisors will also be offered through the new UNO program, says Michael Duffy, the program's director.

In addition, he says, the university's language laboratory will be significantly improved and an orientation course which is in the process of being designed will be introduced in the spring.

According to Duffy, the English, reading and mathematics courses are remedial and count as credit hours but not as credit towards a UNO degree. They are, he says, designed to prepare students for college-level work.

McLeod Park improvements funded by $40,000 grant

The Pearl River Basin Development District has recently completed several additions and improvements at McLeod Water Park in Hancock County.

The grant totaling $40,000, issued by the Heritage Conservation Recreation Service, was utilized by the district to install an entrance-office building, improve the comfort station facilities and add a dumping station for recreational vehicles.

The entrance-office building contains one large assembly room, a first-aid room, storage room and a fee window. Restroom facilities for men and women were also included.

The comfort stations now include shower facilities with hot water and a new septic system. The Hancock County Park Commission assisted the Pearl River Basin Development District in these projects.

"The Pearl River Basin Development District would like to thank the members of the Hancock County Park Commission for their assistance in these projects and for the outstanding initiative and dedication they have shown in their own projects," said District Board member Norton Haas of Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock County Park Commission has constructed 10 permanent camping hook-ups and should complete 25 additional primitive camping areas in the next 60 days, according to Mary Caillier, park director and secretary-treasurer of the Park Commission.

The Pearl River Basin Development District constructed McLeod Water Park in 1977 in conjunction with the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and the Hancock County

Board of Supervisors.

The water park provides its visitors with a boat launching ramp with two fishing piers, a two-story pavilion with overlook, a volleyball court, a lighted ballfield, and a picnic area with 20 units.

The park also features a one-mile nature trail with board walks, two comfort stations equipped with showers, entrance-office building, water fountains, area lighting and parking facilities.

McLeod Water Park is also provided with 24-hour security by Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Wall who live on the grounds. Mr. Wall serves as maintenance supervisor and is a commissioned deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Wall also supervises maintenance and collects fees at the office building. A direct radio supplies the park with 24-hour communication with the sheriff's office in case of emergencies.

The construction and improvement of McLeod Water Park is only one of the Pearl River Basin Development District's projects in Hancock County. The District has also provided Hancock County cities with grants totaling approximately $19,000, funding 12.5 percent of the local share of the cost of developing, 201 Sewer Facilities Plans.

These grants aided Waveland, Bay St. Louis and other cities in complying with the Environmental Protection Agency requirements.

The Pearl River Basin Development District is a special fund agency of the State of Mississippi engaged in recreational development, flood control, soil conservation, pollution abatement, and other programs of development along the Pearl River Basin.

Solar pool covers prove to be hazard

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has issued a national alert to warn consumers of the risk of swimming in pools partially covered with "solar pool covers."

Following reports of a tragic triple-drowning accident at a suburban San Francisco home this summer, commission staff members are strongly urging consumers never to swim in pools which are partially covered by such solar pool covers.

On June 21, a 30-year-old woman and her two sons, aged five and two years, drowned when they apparently became entrapped under the solar pool cover.

CPSC staff members currently are investigating the tragedy and other incidents which may have involved similar circumstances.

A "solar pool cover" is a buoyant, translucent plastic cover designed to be cut to fit the shape of an individual swimming pool, placed flat upon the surface of the pool water to heat the water through passive solar energy from the sun. Advertisements suggest that these devices also are capable of reducing evaporation of water from the pool.

CPSC staff members are informed of four additional deaths by drowning in recent years which were related to pool covers of various types, including solar pool covers. There also is one report of a pet dog which fell into a swimming pool and drowned beneath a solar pool cover.

CPSC staff members estimate that perhaps several hundred thousand of these solar pool covers have been sold nationwide, predominantly within the past few years. The cost of each pool cover can average $200 or more, depending on the size of the pool's surface; in some cases, the covers are sold as original equipment when the pool is installed.

Swimmers who swim under part of a solar pool cover risk surfacing into the device and being unable to breathe. In attempting to find air, it is possible that swimmers might become disoriented and unintentionally swim further under the pool cover.

As the peak of the summer swimming season arrives, the Commission is urging pool owners never to leave such a pool cover partially in place. Swimmers should not enter a pool where there may be a solar cover partially covering the water's surface.

As it completes its investigation, CPSC simultaneously will consider regulatory options available under the authority of the Consumer Product Safety Act.

If the investigation concludes that a regulatory approach is appropriate, various alternatives could include recalling all such products that present a substantial hazard; requiring that these products meet certain safety standards; or if such standards are not possible, banning such products. CPSC also might require such products to display prominent warning labels.

If consumers wish to provide additional information to CPSC on swimming pool solar covers and their potential danger, they may call CPSC's toll-free Hotline at 800-638-6328. In Maryland, call 800-492-8363; and in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, call 800-638-6333.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEEK ENDING
AUGUST 10, 1980

WEATHER SUMMARY
(National Weather Service): Spotty thundershowers last week brought some farmers welcome relief from the generally dry summer. However, rainfall totals were widely varied as some places received more than an inch of rain while others nearby got none at all.

A large portion of the state is still in need of a good rain. The greatest 24-hour total rainfall reported was 3.15 inches at Charleston on the 4th. It was another very warm week in most counties, although not as hot as the last several weeks. Average temperatures were about 2 degrees warmer than usual for this time of the year.

Extremes ranged from 64 degrees at Tupelo on the 6th to 103 at Columbus on the 7th.

CROP SUMMARY: Conditions for most crops worsened across the state as hot, dry weather persisted. Generally, crop conditions were poor to fair in the northern, eastern and delta counties and mostly fair in the southern counties. Insect and weed control were the major farm activities during the week.

Soybeans were in generally fair condition, down from last week, with 81 percent of the crop blooming compared to 84 percent a year ago and 78 percent average. Podding was ahead of average with 48 percent of the acreage podding compared to 42 percent last year and 39 percent average.

Rice was in fair to good condition and has developed rapidly with 62 percent of the acreage headed compared to 35 percent last year and 41 percent average.

Corn was in mostly poor condition in the delta and northeast counties and mostly fair condition in the remainder of the state. Seventy-one percent of the acreage was headed compared to 75 percent a year ago; and 33 percent was mature, the same as last year. About 49 percent of the corn for silage has been cut compared to 47 percent last year. Sorghum was 78 percent headed compared to 68 percent average.

Hay was 65 percent harvested compared to 61 percent average. Pastures were in fair condition. Sweetpotato harvest has just begun with about 3 percent.

Watermelons were 88 percent harvested compared to 88 percent last year and 82 percent average. Peaches were 81 percent harvested compared to 91 percent for both last year and the average.

COUNTIES
FORREST CO. "Armyworms are still present and moisture beginning to be used up from earlier rains."

CHICKASAW CO. "Very dry - soybeans, cotton, pastures are suffering the most for the lack of moisture."

TALLAHATCHIE CO. Cotton insect activity remains high. Armyworms required control measures on numerous fields of young soybeans. Overall county cotton crop looks good, but worst bean prospect in several years."

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, AMENDING ARTICLE XI, SECTION 101, OF ORDINANCE NO. 220 (ZONING ORDINANCE) WHEREAS, the City of Bay St. Louis has been made aware of the need to implement a single use zoning change, and

WHEREAS, the Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended to the Mayor and City Council that they implement this proposed amendment to Ordinance No. 220. Therefore, be it

ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That Article XI, Section 1101 of Ordinance No. 220 be amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE XI
AMENDMENTS

The Mayor and City Council may from time to time on its own motion or on petition, from a property owner, or recommendation of the Planning Commission amend the regulations and districts herein established. Any proposed amendments shall be forwarded to the Planning Commission for their review, comments and recommendations prior to final action by the Mayor and City Council.

Amendments to districts shall be either permanent or single use. A single use amendment would allow the utilization of existing structures in non-compliance areas on a single permit. If the permitted use is discontinued for a period of six months the single use amendment would become void. No change in regulation, restrictions or district boundaries shall become effective until after a public hearing is held by the Planning Commission, at which interested agencies and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least fifteen (15) days notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be published in an official paper, or paper of general circulation in Hancock County.

Each amendment shall be voted upon in accordance with local ordinances or state statutes except in a case of protest against such change. If a protest against such change is presented and is signed by the owners of twenty (20) percent or more of the single use area of one hundred fifty (150) feet of the external boundaries of the area in such proposed change, such amendments shall not become effective except by the favorable vote of two-thirds of all the members of the City Council for the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

A deposit of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be paid by the applicant for each zoning petition for amendment to the zoning regulation to cover the cost of legal publication and processing.

Section 2. That all Ordinances or parts in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after date hereof.

After being reduced to writing, the foregoing Ordinance was read and considered, section by section, and then, as a whole, whereupon Councilman Thriffley moved its adoption and after a second by Councilman Wagner, the following roll call vote was had:

Voting yes: Councilmen Farve, Thriffley and Wagner.
Voting no: None.
Absent and not voting: Councilmen Benvenuti and Seymour.

Whereupon Vice-President Farve declared the foregoing ordinance passed unanimously by the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi this 6th day of August, 1980.

A RESOLUTION DECLARING INTENT OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO ISSUE SHORT TERM NOTES OR CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS IN THE AMOUNT OF $250,000.00 FOR THE HANCOCK COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT

Section 1101 AMENDMENTS
The Mayor and City Council may from time to time on its own motion or on petition, from a property owner, or recommendation of the Planning Commission amend the regulations and districts herein established. Any proposed amendments shall be forwarded to the Planning Commission for their review, comments and recommendations prior to final action by the Mayor and City Council.

Amendments to districts shall be either permanent or single use. A single use amendment would allow the utilization of existing structures in non-compliance areas on a single permit. If the permitted use is discontinued for a period of six months the single use amendment would become void. No change in regulation, restrictions or district boundaries shall become effective until after a public hearing is held by the Planning Commission, at which interested agencies and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least fifteen (15) days notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be published in an official paper, or paper of general circulation in Hancock County.

Each amendment shall be voted upon in accordance with local ordinances or state statutes except in a case of protest against such change. If a protest against such change is presented and is signed by the owners of twenty (20) percent or more of the single use area of one hundred fifty (150) feet of the external boundaries of the area in such proposed change, such amendments shall not become effective except by the favorable vote of two-thirds of all the members of the City Council for the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

A deposit of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be paid by the applicant for each zoning petition for amendment to the zoning regulation to cover the cost of legal publication and processing.

Section 2. That all Ordinances or parts in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 3. That this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after date hereof.

After being reduced to writing, the foregoing Ordinance was read and considered, section by section, and then, as a whole, whereupon Councilman Thriffley moved its adoption and after a second by Councilman Wagner, the following roll call vote was had:

Voting yes: Councilmen Farve, Thriffley and Wagner.
Voting no: None.
Absent and not voting: Councilmen Benvenuti and Seymour.

Whereupon Vice-President Farve declared the foregoing ordinance passed unanimously by the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi this 6th day of August, 1980.

THE FIZZLE FAMILY

Child rearing costs double

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In these times of rising inflation, many Mississippi families are finding it increasingly difficult to stretch family income. This sixth story of a seven-part series looks into the costs of rearing children and finds those expenses to be a major factor in the effect inflation is having on modern families.)

By JANE HONEYCUTT
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

People who want to measure how inflation is affecting their families should glance at the cost of bringing up children. That cost has nearly doubled in the last 10 years. The latest U.S. Department of Agriculture figures show it now costs an average of $3,400 to $3,800 a year to raise each youngster from birth to age 18 at a moderate price level.

"The annual cost generally rises with the age of the child," said Bonita Bridges, area consumer management specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"No substantial difference in annual costs by sex shows up until later years when estimates for boys are higher than for girls. In the past, increased transportation costs have caused this difference, but this decade may see these differences become less marked."

"A child's estimated share of family housing is by far the most expensive item in child rearing," Mrs. Bridges said. "Housing accounts for 35 to 40 percent of total child rearing costs. Food is second and transportation is third, followed by education, medical care and all other categories."

Child care for several children of a working mother can increase these costs. Actually, the lifestyle of the family determines the amount of money necessary. "If you're a new parent, you can anticipate spending between $61,800 and $68,300 until the child is 18."

These figures don't take future inflation rates into account either," Mrs. Bridges said. "These figures are conservative, and will probably rise substantially in coming years."

One surprise is that the cost of raising a child in a small town is about the same as it is in the city. On the average, the most expensive area to raise a child is the West, followed by the South, Northeast and North Central.

Toll-free tourist hotline now open

For the convenience of people desiring tourist information about Mississippi, an in-state WATS line has been installed in the office of the Tourism Division of Jackson.

The line is manned between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, with a recorder operating other times.

The Tourism Division, a part of the Mississippi Department of Economic Development, provides literature on events, museums, historic sites, state parks and other recreational attractions.

For information, call toll-free 1-800-862-2346 from anywhere in Mississippi, outside Jackson.

Summer Reading Program awards 43 certificates

The annual Summer Reading Program sponsored by the Hancock County Library System was a rousing success at all three libraries. There were activities planned at each library every week, including movies, puppet shows, arts and crafts, magic, contests, and even a turtle race. And this year saw participation grow by leaps and bounds, according to Library Spokesman Sherry Schwabacher.

At the Kiln Library last year, there were only five certificates awarded. This year, with registration for the program at 53, there were 32 children who earned certificates, an increase of over 500 percent.

Children who earned certificates were Angela Bennett; Diane Bilbo; Scott Bilbo; Latrecia Cuevas; Rachel Cuevas; Charlie Estave; Sherry Estave; Tina Hoffman; Denise Kemp.

Chris Lacoste; Jo Lynn Ladner; Leroy Ladner; Paula Ladner; Kasey Ladner; Richard Liles; Dennis Lizana; Daniel Mauffray.

Darrin Mauffray; Kimberly Mauffray; Kirk Mauffray; Tommy Mauffray; Troy Mendoza; Laura Necaise; Susan Page; Robert Pino. Garnett Stiglet; Shannon Stiglet; Tiffany Steen; Frank Tomaso; Kerry Uzzell; Shannon York; and Eric York.

The Waveland Library went from 25 children registered last year to 54 registered this year, an increase of over 100 percent.

The eleven children who earned certificates this year were Michele Ashman; Sheri Ashman; Spurgeon Crosby; Wesley Crosby; Brandy Gelpi; Alison Miller; Melinda Miller; John Perkins Jr.; Randy Perkins; Freddy West; and Jerry West.

City County Public Library experienced a dramatic increase in the circulation of children's books in the month of June - from 2,249 books circulated in June of 1979 to 3,461 books circulated this past June - an increase of 1,212.
